HUSKERS LEAD 7 TO 6 AT HALF

Rohn Goes Over But Rohrig Big Factor In Score

Only 30,000 Fans Are In Stands; Seen As Token Of Resentment Over Panther Policy

By "CY" SHERMAN.

PITT U STADIUM, Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 18—Nebraska's Cornhuskers held a 7 to 6 lead over Pittsburgh at the end of the first half of their intersectional grid combat here today.

Herman Rohrig was the main factor in Nebraska's scoring thrust in the second period after Petsch made a fair catch on Pitt's 40 yard line, Rohrig flipped a 20 yard pass to Petsch and then Hermie b roke through for 18 yards which advanced the ball to the 2 yard line. Henry Rohn, the Fremont boy, had the honor of lugging the ball over the goal for the touchdown.

Pitt's score came when Hopp's fumble gave the Panthers possession on the Huskers' 30 yard line. One forward pass from Kracum to Thurbon was sufficient to net Pitt its touchdown, but when Pitt foozled the extra point try the half ended with Nebraska leading 7 to 6.

Earlier, following a fine 22-yard run by Francis, the Panthers stopped a Husker scoring threat on the one-yard line as the first quarter ended.

That only 30,000 fans were on hand for the game in Pitt's 7,000-capacity hilltop stadium was seen as evidence that the Smoky City's football public refuses to forget the resentment caused by Jock Sutherland's resignation.

An overcast sky, in evidence since early morning, gave hint that the weather man might make good on his forecast of "cloudy, colder and probable rain." But shortly prior to the kick-off, the sun made a staggering effort to pierce the gloomy haze.

Although the Smoky City's newspaper prophet unanimously predicted a Nebraska victory, the latest downtown odds had mounted today to 8 against 5 on the Panthers as winners. The posted odds seemed to confirm the pregame judgment of Major Jones, who credited Pitt with possession of the speediest and most brilliant backfield talent in eastern football.

Players Notified of Tragedy.

Major Jones, informed last night of the Douglas Davies tragedy during Friday's frosh game at Lincoln, expressed deep regret. Rather than permit the Cornhusker players to get the information via the newspaper columns Saturday, the major called the squad together last night at Shadyside academy to convey to his proteges the tragic news.

CZECHS SLAIN . . .

3 More Executed In Prague

BERLIN, Nov. 18—(AP)—Execution of three more Czechs in Prague today, bringing to 12 the total of those shot in a two-day campaign to end "rebellious activities," was announced by German authorities.

The three shot today, two of them policemen, were declared "guilty of acts against a German." Identity of the third was not disclosed. All nine executed yesterday were students.

Authorities declined to divulge further details concerning the 12 who had paid the extreme penalty for demonstrating against German rule in the reich's Bohemia-Moravia protectorate.

Meanwhile the power of the nazi regime to deal with Czech disaffection was reported broadened by extension of German law against treason to Bohemia-Moravia, heart of the vanished Czecho-Slovak republic.

Yesterday many Czechs were arrested and a three-year closing of Czech academies ordered. The nine students executed were charged with assaulting German citizens.

Whether any Germans had been killed could not be determined.

Authorized sources insisted that order prevailed today in the protectorate and that 99 per cent of the population disapproved of what they termed attempts to sow dissension by youthful followers of former President Eduard Benes.

"These youngsters forget this is war," one commentator said. "In such times especially it will not do for universities to become hotbeds of anti-government intrigue."

The newspaper Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said nazi treason law had been imposed "in addition to the old Czech law for defense of the republic."

Broadly Defined.

Invocation of the German treason law, which was enacted in the reich April 24, 1934, would give nazi authorities extensive power in dealing with the situation in the protectorate. Treasonable actions, which are broadly defined, are punishable by severe penalties—and in extreme cases by death.

The general principle underlying the law is that "whoever breaks faith with his own people and by treasonable action endangers the existence of the commonwealth has forfeited his life."

Among the definitions of treason

Tigers And Sooners Clash On Wet Field

Despite showers, the stadium was filled with a throng estimated at 26,000. The field appeared wet and soggy.

It meant that Paul Christman, main hope of the Tigers' passing offense, would be handling a slick and wet ball after the first few plays.

Oklahoma won the toss, the first time in eight chances that Missouri's captain, Kenny Haas, had failed to call the toss correctly. Oklahoma chose to kick off and defended the south goal, receiving the benefit of a slight breeze.

Production Is Close To 1929 Peak

Output In Many Plants Approaches Capacity In November

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—United States Industrial production is close to the 1929 peak, the federal reserve board indicates.

A board statement issued last night said that in the first half of November industrial activity "increased further" from the 120 index rating of October. The board gave no definite figure, but 125 was the peak reached by the index in 1929. The board will not give a definite estimate for a few weeks yet.

During October, the board's index jumped from 111 to 120, but the board explained that the November advance was less rapid than that in earlier months, as industrial production in many plants approached capacity.

Department store sales "increased considerably" in the early part of November, the board said. Retail distribution during October gained about a seasonable amount.

Supreme Court To Hear Arguments In Macomber Case

Before deciding the appeal of Clyde D. Macomber, former North Platte police officer, which may test the scope of Nebraska's law on kidnaping, the Nebraska Supreme court announced Saturday it will hear further oral arguments during the session of Dec. 4.

Macomber was found guilty of kidnaping Sam I. Pappas, North Platte cafe operator, and sentenced by the Lincoln county District court to life imprisonment. His appeal was first argued before the high court several months ago but no decision has been reached.

Germans Repulse Air Foes

Reich Reports British Attempt To Attack Wilhelmshaven Meets With Failure

(By the Associated Press.)

European war activity remained restricted today. In addition to yesterday's German flights over British territory, Germany reported British fliers attempted to attack Wilhelmshaven.

London heard meanwhile that the raider which sank the British tanker Africa Shell earlier in the week off the east African coast had been identified as the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer.

The report was doubly significant; it meant Germany had extended raiding to the Indian ocean, a prominent field for such operations in the World war; it meant the allies at least had an idea of where to look for one of the two pocket battleships Germany sent through the British blockade.

Britain Buys U. S. Planes.

Extending her plans for war in the air, Britain contracted for between 400 and 600 training planes in the United States and extra parts, an order valued at about $20,000,000.

It was the first such order made public since the arms embargo was repealed.

In the Far East, Japanese troops in south China drove north from the coast in their effort to cut off Chinese supply routes to French Indo-China and British Burma. Japanese reports said the invading forces had penetrated Kwangsi province in a 50-mile advance since mid-week.

French Digging In.

BERLIN, Nov. 18 — (AP) — French troops were reported today by DNB, official German news agency, to be digging in east of the Moselle river during a lull in fighting on the western front.

Emplacements for long range artillery have been constructed by the French in this sector, DNB said.

The entire northern end of the front from the Moselle to the Rhine was reported quiet yesterday except for occasional artillery fire at isolated points. The upper Rhine also was quiet save for intermittent French machine gun fire directed against the German bank near Breisach.

Nazi scouting planes, DNB said, yesterday penetrated into France as far as Bordeaux and executed reconnaissance missions over the Shetland and Orkney islands.

Nazi Plane Downed.

(A French communique said nazi planes had flown over French territory and that one had been forced down and the crew captured.)

Three British planes, which the Germans assumed had intended to attack the naval base at Wilhelmshaven, were driven off by coastal anti-aircraft fire, DNB added. German fighting planes took off in pursuit but failed to contact the British.

(The British air ministry announced last night that Royal Air Force planes had successfully photographed an important German naval base. The British also announced that a German plane had been driven off after flying over the Shetland islands, and that one of two German planes which approached the east coast of England was downed by Royal Air Force fighters.)

'Doug' Davies Dies In Frosh Grid Game At N.U.

. . . AUTOPSY BEING HELD

The fatal injury to Doug Davies was the first in football history at the Nebraska institution. Charles "Chick" Shedd suffered a serious hip injury in 1897, the year he captained the team, and died several years later. Medical reports disclosed that tuberculosis of the bones was the immediate cause of death.

Hastings Boy Collided With Opponent Near Close Of Contest; First Football Fatality On Nebraska Field

Charles Douglas Davies, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Davies of Hastings, suffered fatal injuries during a freshman intra-squad football game at Memorial stadium late Friday afternoon.

"Doug," as he was affectionately known to his friends and teammates, fell to the ground unconscious on a kickoff play in which his team received the ball.

It was believed that he "threw" a block into an opposing player in an effort to make it possible for the ball carrier to advance. A resounding "plop" was heard when the block took place and Davies lay prone on the playing field.

An autopsy was authorized by Mr. and Mrs. Davies Saturday morning and was being performed during the afternoon to determine the exact cause of death of the death of their son—an only child.

Head Freshman Coach A. J. Lewandowski hurriedly summoned Dr. N. R. Miller from the players' bench and Davies was carried to a dressing room on a stretcher. He died within five minutes of the tragic accident. Dr. Miller said that death evidently resulted from a concussion—the respiratory system apparently was affected, he stated.

It was late in the game when the accident occurred. Lewandowski ordered the game to be kept in progress, however, that the 500 spectators in the stands would not crowd down to the dressing room.

First Fatality On N. U. Field.

Trembling, and ashened face, Lewandowski was extremely hard hit by the first fatality to ever happen on the Nebraska football field.

"I'm heartbroken," he said, "that's all I can say."

"The death is the most tragic thing that has ever happened to me in all my years as a football coach," Lewandowski said. "It was my first experience and I hope my last. I feel, not only for the boy's parents, but for the other members of the freshman squad, Doug's teammates, who played alongside him."

Lewandowski said "every precaution" was used, and the youth was given immediate medical attention.

In the absence of Dr. Earl Deppen, University of Nebraska team physician, who accompanied the

JOHNSON WINS OVER TILLEY IN SALARY BATTLE

Supreme Court Splits 5-2 On Who Should Control Funds

Splitting five to two, the Nebraska Supreme court Saturday declared Attorney General Walter R. Johnson winner of his salary dispute with State Engineer A. C. Tilley.

The majority opinion, by Chief Justice Robert Simmons, directed Tilley to approve July salary vouchers for Assistant Attorney General C. S. Beck, $325, and for Assistant Attorney Gengral Don Kelley, $8.33. Justices Harvey M. Johnsen and Fred W. Messmore dissented.

The attorney general asked the court to direct Tilley to okay the vouchers for July legal work after the engineer refused to approve them on the ground that no showing was made as to how much time Beck and Kelley put in on the highway department's work.

Fund Was Earmarked.

Payment of the salary claims is to be made from a $9,200 fund the 1939 legislature earmarked in the highway department appropriation with the caption "to be expended under the direction of the attorney general and subject to the approval of the state engineer, for salaries and office maintenance in the office of the attorney general."

Tilley's special counsel, John Logan and Robert Downing, argued that the intent of the legislature was that the $9,200 of highway department money was an emergency fund to be used only if the attorney general's regular salary appropriation ran short or in event of extra work.

In the majority opinion, Chief Justice Simmons wrote:

"We cannot agree with the contention of the respondent (Tilley) that this fund is not to be expended until all other funds appropriated to the attorney general's office have been exhausted, nor can we agree with his contention that the matter is left to the discretion of the respondent (Tilley) to determine when it is necessary that this fund be used to pay for legal services to the de-

Says Seized Whisky Had Been Adulterated

Votava Claims Omaha Shipment Contained Methyl-Alcohol, Aldehydes

OMAHA, Nov. 18—(AP)—Federal Judge Donohoe signed today an order directing seizure here of 40 cases of whisky which U. S. District Attorney Joseph Votava said was shown by tests to contain methyl alcohol and aldehydes.

Votava said the whisky was shipped to an Omaha wholesaler by a Chicago dealers supply company. It was described on the bottle labels as "Kentucky Private Stock," he said.

The federal action followed telegraphic information from Washington where tests of the whisky were made. Votava said the methyl alcohol content was sufficient to cause nausea and illness. The shipment, he added, was made in July, but only one quart and a few pints were sold to consumers.

Society News Tinged With Football And Several Visitors

IT WAS nip and tuck as to which game had the most interest for Nebraska followers of the gridiron sport today—With Oklahoma coming up for official business next Saturday, there was a certain amount of speculation on the outcome of the battle with Missouri—However, most of the "listen-in" affairs were tuned to Pittsburgh for a good share of the afternoon.

But with football out of the way for another week we shall turn the conversation into other channels—

Such as, for instance, the news that Governor and Mrs. R. L. Cochran had as their dinner guests Friday evening at the governor's mansion, Colonel and Mrs. Robert C. Garett of Fort Omaha. Nov. 23 Is To Be Thanksgiving Day For Gov. Cochran's Family

With a grin, Governor Cochran confessed Saturday that though he has set Nov. 30 as Nebraska's Thanksgiving day, he and his family will observe the holiday Nov. 23, as set by the president.

He explained that he and Mrs. Cochran made plans to spend Thanksgiving with their son and daughter at Culver, Ind., where R. L., jr., is enrolled in Culver Military academy.

"The trouble is," the governor said, "Indiana is observing Thanksgiving Nov. 23."

Desipte this difference with his own state policies, the governor said, the family will gather at Culver and have Thanksgiving on the president's day.

Mary Aileen Cochran, daughter of the governor and Mrs. Cochran, ran into difficulties, too. She is attending Ward Belmont school in Nashville, Tenn., and Tennessee, like Nebraska, has stuck with the old date, Nov. 30. The governor said, however, that she has made arrangements to skip classes Nov. 23 and 24, and will be at Culver.

Ashland Man In Coma Following Stroke On Road

E. L. C. Gilmore Found Unconscious By Son Near Stalled Car

E. L. C. Gilmore, 61, Ashland salesman who was found unconscious near Emerald by his son Friday night, Saturday was removed to an Omaha hospital by ambulance. He was at St. Elizabeth hospital suffering from the effects of a stroke believed induced by overexertion.

Gilmore was found near Emerald by his son, John R. Gilmore of Ashland, lying unconscious near his car about 9:30 p. m. after he had telephoned home and reported trouble with his car.

Partly Paralyzed.

Young Gilmore, accompanied by Miss Carol Paulus of Ashland, took his father to Lincoln, notified police and called Dr. J. M. Packer of Ashland. Dr. Packer said Mr Gilmore was suffering from a blood clot on the brain and partial paralysis of the right side. He is unconscious.

John Gilmore said that his father called his home about 4 Friday afternoon and that he started for Emerald about 8 p. m. He found his father lying face down on the ground at a deserted gasoline station seven miles west of Emerald.

Dr. Packer said there was no indication of foul play.

Gilmore was a hybrid seed corn salesman for a seed company located at Waterloo. He left Ashland Friday morning on a trip through eastern Nebraska.

DENSE FOG IN STATE; AIR TRAFFIC HALTED

OMAHA, Nov. 18—(AP)—Fog of near zero-zero—no ceiling and no visibility as the airmen say—proportions settled over Omaha Saturday morning, delaying traffic and interrupting airplane traffic.

Most of the southeastern corner of Nebraska was blanketed in a thick fog early Saturday morning, which lifted around 7:30. Some of the areas, particularly in Lincoln, were of the "need a knife to cut ti" variety, while visibility was fair to good in areas close by.

Reclamation Service Studying Republican Valley, Tilley Says

Basing his comments on information received at the recent reclamation session which he attended at Denver, State Engineer A. C. Tilley said that the reclamation service is interested in work involving the Republican valley.

John C. Page, commissioner from Washington, held a meeting at which about 25 Nebraskans attended, Tilley said. He told them that a complete study of the situation is being made, making use of previous surveys, and will touch on all phases—irrigation, flood control and power.

A compact will have to be signed by the several states involved, Tilley said they were told. Then, after the compacts between Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado have been signed they must be approved by the various legislatures, and then by the national congress before work could start, even though money were available.

Cochran Urges School Authorities, Employers Cooperate With Guard

Governor Cochran urged employers and school authorities Saturday to co-operate with the national guard in permitting guardsmen called into an additional week's training period to leave their employment and studies without penalty. Not Necessary Name Specific Amount Money

. . . FOR ASSISTANCE

Attorney General Advises Senator Johnson On Reveue Matter

The attorney general's office advised State Senator Richard Johnson of Fremont, Saturday that it may be legally possible for the legislature to make all revenues from assistance tax sources available to the assistance division without naming a specific amount in the appropriation bill.

With a proposed special legislative session in vew to release estimated excess collections to assistance, Johnson asked why the program couldn't be given all the assistance tax income without trying to estimate the exact amount.

The opinion by Assistant Attorney General Emerson Kokjer explained the courts have liberally interpreted a constitutional restriction which says money can't be drawn unless the appropriation is specific.

There s, however, a statutory requirement for a specific appropriation in the case of the assistance fund but Kokjer said the legislature itself would have the power to change that.

Gets Second Sentence On Charges of Rape

Judge Sears Expresses Hopes Parole Board Will Ignore Omahan's Pleas

OMAHA, Nov. 18—(AP)—Burton Thompson, 30-year-old trucker, pleaded guilty to a rape charge Saturday and was sentenced to 15 years in prison by District Judge Sears "with the hope that the parole board will not listen to any fool arguments of yours for a parole."

Thompson was accused of kidnaping a 28-year-old Omaha business woman from Forty-ninth and Dodge streets October 10, taking her to the country and assaulting her.

It was Thompson's second 15-year sentence for rape. On Christmas day, 1930, he was accused of attacking a 17-year-old North Omaha girl and beating her brutally. He pleaded guilty "to spare her the embarrassment of a trial" and was paroled October 12, 1938, after he had bombarded officials for years with pleas for clemency.

Board Of Examiners Files Answer In Suit

The Nebraska state board of examiners for professional engineers and architects answered a District court action brought here by Celwyn Mervyn Downs Saturday with the contention that it has a quasi-judicial discretion to determine the qualifications of an applicant before a license is granted.

The board said no action was taken on Downs' application because an investigation was being made. Downs declared that he was a practicing engineer but that his license was not renewed upon application. The examiners, through the attorney general, declared they were ready to act on the application but have refrained from taking action while the suit was pending.

U. S. Vessels Detained 48 Times In War

No Claims For Loss Of Cargo; British Have Made 33 Examinations Of American Ships

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—The state department today reported 48 cases in which belligerents had detained American ships for examination of papers or cargo.

Of the total detentions, Great Britain was responsible for 33, France for 10, Germany for 4 and an unidentified vessel for one.

The report included information received by the state department between Sept. 1 and Nov. 17. Forty-four ships were detained, but four of these were stopped twice.

In most cases, the department reported, American ships were not stopped by warships on the high seas but were detained when they docked at belligerent ports.

Protest Lengthy Detention.

Shipping companies are lodging their complaints about lengthy detentions with the maritime commission, and that body is passing them along to the state department for study. No action has been taken thus far.

There have been no formal claims for the loss of cargoes, and authorities here do not yet have accurate information on the total amount of goods seized, nor how many ship operators have been compensated by belligerents. Information at the state department was that Great Britain had compensated some American owners for seized cargoes, however.

Three instances of American ships being detained and examined by German submarines were reported.

Right To Halt Ships Recognized.

This government recognizes the right of belligerents to halt neutral ships at sea for examination of their papers and cargoes to determine whether they may be carrying contraband to the enemy. If contraband is found and evidence obtained that it is destined for delivery ultimately to the enemy, the contraband may be seized and unloaded at sea or the vessels taken into port for unloading. Similar treatment is accepted for American ships which sailed before the neu rality law restricted their movements and which entered belligerent ports voluntarily.

Postal officials reported nearly a month ago that the British, in searching ships for contraband, had taken American mail, censored it and then sent it back to this country. It was announced here that mail to Germany would, in future, be routed through Italy to avoid interference by Britain.

Secretary of State Hull told reporters Oct. 20 that this government would reserve all its rights under international law.

10 Drown As Fishing Boat And Tug Collide

Victims Apparently Asleep At Time of Impact In North Carolina

BEAUFORT, N. C., Nov. 18—(AP)—A tugboat and a fishing vessel collided on the inland waterway six miles north of here last night and 10 members of the fishing boat were drowned.

E. J. and Charlie Fulcher, brothers, of Stacy, in east Carteret county, were among the victims. The other dead were negroes. Only three had been identified early today, Robert Lee of Southport, Isaac Clarriby of near Southport, and Joseph Eagles of Southport.

The fishing boat, the Southland, was headed from Okracoke to Morehead City with 300,000 fish. It went to the bottom. It carried a crew of 20.

The tug, the Especo, out of New York, was towing the barge Espee No. 4, owned by the Solway Process Co. of New York. None of the Especo's crew was hurt.

The drowned men were presumably asleep at the time of the impact.

CAPONE READY TO CRY QUITS

Doctor Says Ex-Gangster 'Chronically But Not Acutely Ill'

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18—(AP)—"Scarface" Al Capone, the humbled "big shot," is ready to cry quits.

That, at least, was the word passed along today by his brother, John, Villanova, Pa., business man, whose name has never been connected with the $25,000,000 crime syndicate Al once ruled in Chicago.

Speaking for the bed-ridden gangster, at the first press interview the Capone family has granted since Al entered the hospital here Thursday, John asserted his brother bore no resentment toward society for his seven years in prison.

In Cheerful Mood.

"He's in a cheerful mood and doesn't hold a grudge against anybody," he said.

He added that the "big shot," who is suffering from paresis, a softening of the brain, was "a little on edge"—"nervous like anyone coming out of there." By "there" he meant Alcatraz, the federal prison in California where Capone served most of his sentence for income tax evasion.

Dr. Joseph Moore's, Capone's attending physician, said his patient was "chronically but not acutely ill."

He replied "no comment" when asked if Capone was rational.

Other hospital sources said Capone would undergo treatment involving one of the modern methods in inducing artificially high temperatures.

Stokowski's Sartorial Splendor Suffers Setback

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18—(AP)—The calisthenics of orchestra conducting have finally scored against sartorially splendid Leopold Stowski.

His "gates ajar" collar came loose with a pop at a Philadelphia orchestra concert yesterday, flapped for 5 minutes and sent a murmur of consternation through the sedate Academy of Music. But the music flowed on and Stokowski made repairs during intermission.

Nothing like it had been seen in the academy since guest conductor Sir Thomas Beecham lost a suspender button at the peak of a crescendo.

Boy, 12, Shoots Robber When Father Slain

Chicago Negro Suffering From Four Bullet Wounds Sought

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—(INS)—A bandit, seriously wounded by the 12-year-old son of the store owner he had killed, was sought throughout Chicago today.

The robber, a negro, fled from the hospital where he had sought treatment when police entered with the body of his victim. Attendants said the man was suffering from at least four bullet wounds and would possibly die without attention.

The youthful avenger of his father is Pasquale Addante, who was behind the counter in their grocery when the bandit entered. The family was in a rear room.

Robber Kills Boy's Father.

Hearing the man's command to empty the cash drawer, the father, Vito, grabbed up a revolver and burst into the room. Ordering Pasquale to drop to the floor, he fired at the robber who whirled and emptied his gun at the grocer.

Addante slumped to the floor dead. Pasquale seized his father's revolver and began firing as the robber ran to the door. The boy followed outside and fired four more shots before the man disappeared.

Quietly, he later told police it was the first time he had ever fired a gun, but added:

"When I saw my dad on the floor all I could think of was to kill the man who shot him. I'm sorry I didn't do it."

Wyoming Water Exhibit Attacked

Good Claims Comparison Of Platte Water Used Grossly Unfair

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 18—(AP)—A Wyoming exhibit entered at a water hearing here to compare water diversions from the North Platte river in Wyoming and Nebraska was attacked by a Nebraska attorney, who said the exhibit "might as well compare New York with Cheyenne.

The exhibit, submitted Friday by S. S. Sharp, superintendent of Wyoming's water district No. 1, attempted to show relative diversions in the Saratoga area, on the upper North Platte, and from the Nebraska state line to North Platte, Neb.

"Wyoming is taking a 25-mile section of the North Platte and comparing it with a 160-mile srtetch along the river in Nebraska," objected Paul F. Good, Nebraska's chief counsel in its United States Supreme court suit against Wyoming and Colorado.

"You might as well compare New York with Cheyenne. This is an attempt to leave an impression that Nebraska is gaining vastly more water than it should have."

Good suggested the exhibit should have included the Torrington, Medicine Bow, Rock Creek, Douglas, Wheatland and Laramie project areas.

"All these taken together with the small area around Saratoga which Wyoming has used might furnish some basis for comparison," he said.

DENVER, Nov. 18— (INS) — Hyman Hirshorn, co-owner, and Alexander Johnson, waiter at Tivoli Terrace night club, Saturday stood convicted by west side court on charges of selling liquor to a minor and to an intoxicated person.

The charges grew out of a complaint brought by Archie Miller, 19 year old Stockville, Neb., farm boy, who spent the evening at the Denver "hot spot" in his first night out in a big city.

Parents of Irving Junior high school students had a look into the regular class-room routine as some 1,200 attended the annual open house observance Friday night. Students and teachers carried on classes at 10-minute intervals as parents looked on.

The science room attracted considerable interest as did the exhibits in the new display case, recently presented by the P. T. A. Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria during the in interval corresponding to the noon lunch period.

Trade Spurt Due To Need And Not War

... OWEN YOUNG SAYS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—Owen D. Young, who yesterday announced his retirement from the chairmanship of the giant General Electric Co., believes actual domestic need underlies the general business spurt in the United States.

Differing with economic observers who have predicted a sharp slump in the spring, Young said in an interview that "a large part" of domestic activity is based, not on preparations to handle war orders, but on needs deferred by uncertainty as to what would happen in Europe.

"I have heard many people say the fall upturn in general business, especially in machine tools and factory equipment, represented efforts of industrial companies to put their plants in order to handle the demand which might come from Europe if the war long continued," Young said.

Does Not Agree.

"I do not agree with this. It is true that American business activity has spurted ahead since the war started, but a large part of the orders placed the past couple months actually represent commitments deferred the past year or so by the uncertainty seen in those months leading up to the war declaration.

"There may be some tapering of activity in the spring, once these heavy deferred orders are filled. But I do not think we will witness any outright collapse in industrial operations unless adverse influences, now unseen, appear."

Young followed his own rule that a man should "retire at 65" in announcing he would resign the General Electric chairmanship Jan. 1. Gerard Swope will retire as president on the same date, although both will continue as directors.

Young expressed the opinion that labor troubles which now plague operations of scattered plants sooner or later will disappear, with concessions by both managements and workers.

Girl Grows Inch In Three Weeks To Join School Aviation Class

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 18—(INS)—It was a long pull but she made it and red-haired Kathleen Hildebrand, junior college sophomore, rejoiced today over the word she was big enough to join the school's aviation class.

Turned down because she was just 5 feet 1 inch tall, a bare inch too short, Kathleen was given three weeks to grow the needed amount. By hanging from doorways, bending over chairs and remaining in bed until the last moment yesterday (she'd heard you are taller in the morning), she managed to scrape the 5 foot 2 beam.

Questions . . . Answers

Charles Smrha, state director of insurance, said Saturday that he has answered these questions:

Does the cash surrender value of an insurance policy owned by a bankrupt pass to the trustee in bankruptcy?

"By virtue of the Nebraska statute and the exemptions thereby granted, to which the federal courts will look in determining the bankrupt's exemptions, it is only such policies that are payable to the estate of the insured which will pass to the trustee in bankruptcy as a part of the assets of the debtor's estate and subject to the claims of his creditors," he explained in part.

Can a firm selling auto tires guarantee to replace the tire in case of a blowout, and also pay damages for property or personal injury in case of an accident caused by a blowout?

He said the tire could be replaced, but the other service would place the company in the insurance business—which is not permitted.

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 18—(AP)—W. E. Townsend, 41, Boulder barber accused of beating his wife to death after a quarrel over education of a daughter, was convicted of first degree murder. A jury directed death in the gas chamber.

America's Trade Program Rapped By Senator Burke

Says Reciprocal Pacts Destroying Markets Of U. S. Farmers

OMAHA, Nov. 18—(AP)—Senator Edward R. Burke of Omaha voted for the reciprocal trade agreements act but he isn't so sure he'll support the measure when it comes up for re-enactment at the next session.

Speaking before the midwest institute of government at the University of Omaha Friday night Burke said the trade agreements act could be cited as an example "of what occurs when the senate is not in a position to dissect an agreement entered into by the president with a foreign nation."

He declared that "from the standpoint of long-range economy theory there may have been justification for the increased importation of certain classes of farm products, but regardless of theories of this character the realities of the situation must be faced.

Can't Be Tolerated.

"The destruction of a market for the products of our farms on the basis that they now exist, whether or not agricultural developments should have taken these precise lines, should not be tolerated."

In the course of his lecture to institute members, the Nebraska senator analyzed the senate's constitutional role in foreign policy.

"Any weakening of the role of the senate in the realm of foreign affairs would be a step toward a disintegration of our governmental system. In the present world crisis we cannot afford to move in that direction."

The speaker contrasted the American diplomatic system with its restrictions on the president by spokesmen of the people with the system in dictator countries where legislatures are just "soundingboards for the voice of the dictator."

The senate is an extra safeguard against mistakes in judgment by the executive, the legislator explained.

"It is a recognition that no single human being can possibly be infallible and that serious errors would occur without such a system of checks and balances as is provided by the constitution."

Heritage Of U. S. Needs Protection

Intelligent Defense Now Important, Scottish Rite Class Told

Preservation of a dynamic program of education and continued defense and support of religion were set forth as essential to perpetuation of American freedom by Dr. George Rosenlof in an address before 350 persons attending the traditional honor banquet closing the seventy-third reunion of Scottish Rite Freemasons Friday night.

"America can be free and America can only progress insofar as it guarantees to each man, woman and child that freedom to progress and that freedom to live in accordance with divine promise."

Frank C. Patton of Omaha, sovereign grand inspector general of Nebraska, also spoke briefly at the banquet which was tendered in honor of members of the newly conferred "Stars and Stripes" class. Joe W. Seacrest, Master of Kadosh, introduced Verne Hedge who presided as toastmaster.

Officers Introduced.

Among officers introduced were: Ray E. Ramsay, commander, Lincoln council No. 2, Earl Johnson, wise master, Emmanuel chapter No. 2, Jesse G. Faes, venerable master, Delta lodge of Perfection, and Richard V. Koupal, secretary of the co-ordinate bodies. Deputy Inspector C. D. Traphagen was also presented. John Cronley offered invocation.

"The salvation of democracy," declared Dr. Rosenlof, "lies in the intelligence of its citizens which in turn depends on education. We must take the long view and make certain that we rear men and women to an enlightened citizenship."

The speaker declared that the church, equally, must be defended. Religion, he said, is an essential — not a by-product—of our modern living.

World Bewildered.

The most characteristic feature of the modern world is its bewilderment, said Dr. Rosenlof. Reasoning is in retreat and we are content to think in terms of the moment to deal with emergency. He emphasized that the time has come when we must resort to a genuine and modified reasoning to deal with the problems facing us.

This age, he said, is also characterized by a disintegration of morals and too great a dependency upon material rather than spiritual values. He called upon Americans, as individual to answer these challenges.

"We in America," he said, "have it in our power to demonstrate to all mankind that there is only one way of living — that found under the 'Stars and Stripes.'"

After pleading guilty to dispatching a letter threatening Charles G. Beck, former manager of the Veterans hospital at Lincoln, Adolph F. Melcher of Waverly, Ia., Saturday awaited transfer from the Ottumwa jail to Dubuque.

Federal authorities in Iowa charged that Melcher sent a letter to General Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans administration at Washington, threaten injury to Beck who is now manager of the Hines, Ill., veterans' facility.

5,000 Longshoremen Will Return To Work

Eastern Coastwise Strikers Fail To Obtain An Increase In Pay

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—Five thousand striking longshoremen here have voted to return to work Monday at their old wages, thus ending a walkout that tied up coastal shipping in and out of New York harbor for two weeks.

The strike, directed against nine coastal shipping lines, had temporarily idled thousands of other maritime employes in Gulf and Atlantic ports, including sailors and office workers. Seventy-three coast-wise vessels were affected.

The strike was called off last night at a meeting of 2,000 longshoremen on the recommendation of Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association (AFL).

The strikers claimed a "moral victory" although they did not obtain a demanded $1.05 an hour wage rate and a 40-hour week. They will go back to the piers under the old contract scale providing 95 cents an hour for a 44-hour week.

C. W. Shaner Dies While Driving; Car Halts At Tree

... ON NORTH 17TH

War Veteran, Driver On First Lincoln Bus Line, Suffers Heart Attack

Clarence William Shaner, 48, World war veteran and operator on one of the first bus lines out of Lincoln, died, apparently of a heart attack, while driving a car on North Seventeenth street early Friday evening. His home was at 643 South Eleventh street.

Shaner was found at 6:45 o'clock slumped over at the wheel of his car which had come to a halt against a tree near Sixteenth and Y street. Deputy County Sheriff Leslie Hasson, who acted as coroner, said Shaner had apparently died at the wheel as he drove his car south on Seventeenth street.

An employe of the Fruide Pharmacy, Twelfth and M streets, for the past five years, Shaner had made a delivery and was returning to the store. Officers said his car, out of control, had crossed the curb at the east side of Seventeenth.

Engine Still Running.

The engine was still running when Shaner was found by Pete Schmahl, 1210 Claremont. Officers said the machine was apparently going at a slow rate of speed when it struck the tree.

Shaner had worked during the day, Friday, and, although he had complained of a pain in the side, he believed it to be the result of an injury received when he was caught in an airplane propeller a number of years ago.

During the World war, Shaner was a chief engine tester for American planes at an air base in England. Following the war, he drove for a number of years on the first bus line between Lincoln and Nebraska City. The line was owned by his mother, Mrs. Florence Shaner of Lincoln.

Shaner was a member of the American Legion. He was born on a farm south of Lincoln, and attended high school in Lincoln.

Besides his mother, he is survived by two sons, Clarence and Elmer, both of Lincoln; a daughter, Margaret of Lincoln; three brothers, Ramond of Lincoln, Carl of Holmesville, Neb., and Robert of Huntington Park, Cal.; and two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Wright of Lincoln, and Mrs. Pearl Brown of Omaha.

Senator Murray Says Country Wants F.D.R. To Seek Third Term

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Senator Murray (D-Mont), an administration supporter, declared today that "there is a strong feeling throughout the country that President Roosevelt should run for a third term."

Murray said that recent statements from former Senator McAdoo of California and Secretary Wallace had "tended to increase general agitation" for a third term. Both McAdoo and Wallace said that Mr. Roosevelt should run again.

"There is no doubt that the president could be renominated and re-elected," Murray added. "I don't think he wants to run again, but I believe the country wants him to."

Placing It In Their Laps

ROGER BABSON may have had something in attempting to lay responsibility for unemployment on the public school system but if he did, he did not make it very clear. Politics have had very little to do with educational trends. Other social and economic forces, which have been at work for years in this country have had an infinitely greater part in molding the curriculum.

Mr. Babson could have said something about the parents. To the last father and mother they have wanted their children to be better qualified in an educational sense than they themselves were. And it was natural these parents should be ambitious for their children, loving them as they do, and hoping that success would come to them in a greater measure than it has to other generations. The old-time trades, which provided employment to well-paid skilled artisans, were out. Millions of young people were headed for the over-crowded professions, and for the white-collared ranks. For that situation, if criticism is to be brought, place it at the door of the parents because they wanted more for their sons and daughters than they themselves had.

But Mr. Babson, in uncurbed terms, told a group of educators, that the 8, or 9, or 12 million unemployed, whatever the figure may be could be attributed largely to the failure of education. For the reason that he is a nationally known economist, his words may receive more attention than actually they deserve.

THERE is plenty wrong with education. Educators recognize it, and deplore it. They would like to feel the job which they are doing, incidentally as difficult as any job falling upon any single group, fulfills the expectations of the public, which contributes so generously to the support of education. Among the young generation in the schools and colleges of this country there exists a spirit of stark realism, which expresses itself in discontent with its progress, and in a feeling of frustration in its opportunities.

Generally it has been so wonderfully treated. Parents have sacrificed their own necessities and comforts to enable their children to continue their education. Not in all cases have these children been unmindful or ungrateful, but a great many of them have accepted the sacrifices their parents made as something they had a right to, and as their proper heritage.

But so many factors enter into the problem of unemployment that to attempt to place it at any single door, an attempt made by a distinguished economist, leaves much to be desired. On the day following Mr. Babson's address, Saturday, the news columns announced industrial production had approached the levels of the high peak of 1929, and to all outward appearances, it had not succeeded in making perceptible dent in the ranks of the unemployed. Between 1929 and 1939 is a stretch of ten years. Automatically that decade shifted several million to the classification of unemployable because they were beyond the age where business and industry desired their services. Whose fault is it? Certainly not that of the men and women affected. Possibly there is no valid criticism to be brought against business and industrial methods. But it is a recognized fact the greatest unemployment today exists in the cases of those beyond 60 and 65 years of age.

THE argument over labor saving machinery has two sides. One has been that no labor-saving device ever came into existence without creating additional unemployment. Another is that we have become entirely too efficient in industrial, business, and agricultural methods, and created for ourselves a problem for which no satisfactory solution has been presented.

Certainly the utilization of the tractor, and the substitution of the combine for men and horses has eliminated that earlier great outlet for workers on the farm during different seasons of the year. The old migration of the armies of harvest hands, which started with the ripening of the grain in Texas, and followed it north, is a thing of the past.

When a man with a tractor can plow two and three, to as high as ten times as much in a single day as the man with a team plowed, it is obvious that a previous source of employment no longer exists. And when large scale farming was substituted for the old family unit, it dislocated agricultural economy. These changes are here to stay —must be recognized as the inevitable course of progress, and cannot be ignored.

THAT same transition has been taking place in business and industry. In factories machines do the work which occupied the energies of five, ten, or even 100 men. No doubt there have been compensations in employment through other new fields of endeavor. Whether they offset the loss resulting from machine improvement is something on which no authentic information has been prepared, if it would be possible to procure accurate data.

More recently in connection with unemployment attention is being focused upon natural population increases. The census of 1940 should go a long way toward providing the American people with specific information of the changes that have taken place in the last ten years. Even under restrictive immigration measures, it has been estimated that by 1950, the United States would have a population of 160 millions. The unemployment problem, a continuing one, for which Mr. Babson placed responsibility upon the educational plant, may be attributed in part to the natural growth of population. Which, would mean, that we had arrived at that stage in national history where America was an over-populated country, there were too many willing hands desiring work, and the plants and facilities to produce more than people could pay for.

It has seemed, however, there was plenty of work to do. There are forests to be restored, there is soil to be rebuilded, the steps to be taken to curtail the forces of erosion which exacts such a heavy toll from the people. There is infinite work to be done which may call for a different viewpoint than has prevailed heretofore.

Strict Regulation

THE state liquor commission has suspended the licenses of a number of beer tavern operators in Omaha, accused of having made use of "dime a drink" girls, which practice is forbidden by the authorities. Mayor Dan Butler says that this is not the end of the matter and calls attention to the fact that the council has the licensing power, which will be made use of when offenders make application for renewal of their permits.

The fact of the matter is, and this is recognized by Butler and other officials of the metropolis, there are too many licensed dispensers of beer and liquor in Omaha, and this condition has had a tendency to tempt some of them to evade the law and regulations, in order that their business might be made more profitable.

The proper system in handling the liquor problems, is to so limit the number of dealers that those licensed may conduct their places in a proper and orderly manner and still make a legitimate profit. It was disregard of the law by dealers and manufacturers greedy for profit that put the old saloon out of business. Those dealers who are at this time unwilling to conform to strict regulation are working to put themselves into some other line of endeavor.

Steel Everlasting

SCIENTISTS have developed five new processes which may make steel last forever in every kind of weather, it is reported. That is a pleasing prospect. However if progress continues until nearly everything we live in, wear or use can be improved to the same degree of permanency we will ultimately reach the point where most of us won't have anything to do. There is little need to worry, though. That problem is in the same class with the one which poses the terrible question of what will happen to the world when the sun cools off several billion years hence.

Academic Foresight

A CLASS of 16 college of agriculture students has been taken on a field tour of the Tri-County canals and of irrigated farms in the Platte valley. Irrigation in these past few years has become an accepted fact over a large area of Nebraska and irrigation facilities are being continually expanded. It is wise and proper that Nebraska's future farmers should learn how to use this valuable water to the best possible advantage.

AIR BUBBLES IN HAIR SHAFT MAY BE CAUSE OF GRAY HAIR

An inquiry from a nurse in training says, "Our class in physiology is studying the hair and its care. The question we are discussing is: 'Is it possible for the hair to turn white overnight, and, if so, what causes it?'"

There is no certain and authentically reported case of the hair turning white overnight. Byron, in the "Prisoner of Chillon," is the source of the common belief, but Byron was not a dependable pathologist. His statement about the hair turning was:

"My hair is gray, but not with years,
Nor grew it white
In a single night,
As men's have grown from sudden fears."

There is the case of a clergyman in Nottingham, reported in the Memoirs of the Medical Society of London, whose daughter at the age of 13 experienced a change from jet blackness of hair to white in a single night, but this was confined to a spot on the back of the head one and one-half inches in length.

Distressing News.

Bichat, an eminent French physician of the early nineteenth century, had a personal acquaintance whose hair became almost entirely gray as a result of some distressing news that reached him.

Byron had reference to Ludovico Sforza, an Italian nobleman.

Dr. Dewees reported a case of a woman whose hair turned gray in a single hour between visits.

The cause of gray hair is said to be the formation of air bubbles in the hair shaft. I do not know what the proof of this is, but in 1882, in the Canada Journal of Medical Science, was reported a case of sudden graying of hair due to business worry. The microscope showed a great many air vesicles in the hair shaft.

The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal for 1851 reported a case of a man, 30 years old, whose hair was scared white by a grizzly bear.

Another case of the hair turning gray was that of a Californian in a gambling camp who placed his entire savings of $1,100 on the turn of a card. The next day his hair was perfectly white, but there is no record of how the card turned out.

Louis, of Bavaria, learned of the innocence of his wife, whom he had put to death on a suspicion of her infidelity, and his hair turned white almost immediately, but this was in 1294 and the records are somewhat mixed.

De Schweinitz reported in 1889 that the hair of the upper eyelid of a patient turned white in a week. This is the last report that we have.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A Happy Farewell

You'll find there's little gladness
Without a tinge of sadness.
—Old Mother Nature.

Mrs. Slim the Eel had nearly completed the first part of a long, long journey. She had traveled all the way from the Smiling Pool down the Laughing Brook to the Big River and down the Big River until now she was at its mouth where it flows into the Great Ocean. Here the salt tides came in to meet the fresh water of the Big River. At low tide the water was hardly salt at all, but at high tide it was hardly fresh at all. That salty taste gave Mrs. Slim a strange feel of expectancy. She didn't know what she expected, but the feeling that something new in her experience, perhaps something wonderful, was to happen grew and grew.

She had had many adventures on the way down the Big River and now she was to have another. Here around the mouth of the Big River were bars of sand and flats of mud, all under water at high tide and some under water at low tide. On these mud flats and around the sand bars she found many of her own kind. She didn't lack for company, yet she felt strangely alone. You see all those other Eels were strangers to her. If she had but known it, which, of course, she didn't, many of them were feeling just as she felt. Many of them had made the same long journey that she had, some an even longer journey.

Boats were continually coming and going and soon she was so used to them that she paid little attention to them. She lay resting on one of the mudflats. Many others were resting there also. One big Eel of about her own size lay close to her. The water above them was perhaps two feet deep. A small boat came drifting over them. She thought nothing of it. Then from that boat something shot down through the water. Something just grazed her and struck the big Eel at her side. It was drawn up and her companion with it, thrashing about wildly and struggling to free herself. She was lifted out of the water and into the boat. Mrs. Slim never saw her again. She had been speared by a fisherman.

It was shortly after this that Mrs. Slim met Slippery Slim. He was an Eel of about half her size. It was the fisherman who had speared her companion who had given Slippery Slim his name. This fisherman had a sort of trap set for Eels and in it Slippery Slim with others had been caught. While taking them out of the trap Slippery Slim had managed to slip through the fisherman's hands and back into the water. He got his name right then.

Now, Slippery Slim looked much like many of his companions of his age. That is, he looked so to everybody but Mrs. Slim. From the moment she set eyes on him she had eyes for no one else. It was much the same with him. Wherever she went he followed. His eyes had become very large. twice as big as they had been. He, too, had lost his appetite some time ago. Together they sought to get away from the others. They headed out toward the open sea.

They had started on a journey of more than a thousand miles

Perhaps at first they didn't realize that they were leaving fresh water, never to taste or swim in it again; were leaving land and heading out into the open sea. They were happy in each other, and they asked no more than this happiness. Then, as they got away from land, out where the water was so salt that there was no hint of fresh water, the same urge that had possessed Mrs. Slim at the Smiling Pool and all the way down the Big River took possession of both. It was the urge to travel, the urge to keep on and on day after day, night after night, through the pathless waters of the Great Ocean.

There was no one to guide them, and they knew not where they were going. Yet they swam as if they knew the way and to what place it led. They had started on a journey of more than a thousand miles. They were headed straight for home if the place of one's birth may be called home. They were headed for the depths of the Great Ocean somewhere between the island of Bermuda and the Bahama islands. Both had been born there years before. It is there that all common Eels of the rivers and ponds whose waters reach the Atlantic Ocean are born, no matter how far inland you may find them.

So Mr. and Mrs. Slim together swam happily out in the Great Ocean never to return. Their children would return, but not they. They didn't know this, but it would have made no difference if they had. They were happy.

AIR RAID.

Run, children, run!
Burrow underground.
Quit the morning sun.
Airships flying round!

Run, mothers, run!
Deep in dungeons stay.
Till the danger's done,
Huddle there and pray.

Haste, nurses, haste!
Heed that warning sound!
You've no time to waste!
Scuttle underground.

Cripples, lest you die,
Faster you must crawl!
Soon from ships on high
Awful death will fall.

Parson, flee from prayer!
Shopman, run from trade!
Now the sirens blare,
Signal of a raid!

Calling All Dogs

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

Locked in a Locker

I wrote some time ago about two dogs shut into a suitcase and checked at the Grand Central parcel room in New York. The owner did not come back to claim them, and they died from suffocation or from thirst. The story caused much newspaper comment. An almost similar tale of desertion occurred a few months later.

A policeman heard a faint crying that seemed to come from one of the public lockers in the Times Square, New York, subway station. He traced the moaning sounds to one of a line of twelve lockers. As he rapped on the locker's metal door, the noise increased in volume and it took on a tinge of hope.

A patrolman and the station policeman went to work at the door with hammer and screwdriver. They forced it open. Half-smothered in the dark recesses of the locker lay a fluffy little black-and-white dog. It wore a studded harness and a blanket. By luck it was rescued before it died.

The law went to work. Harry Kramer of 150 West 14th street was found to be the victim's owner. He was haled to court, though he said he had left the dog in the locker only temporarily. The dog itself was turned over to the S. P. C. A.

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

YESTERDAY: Tuck hazards the opinion that perhaps her necklace has found the same hiding place as the Murchison diamonds. Later Michael talks with an old friend—the janitor of the Medical Building—who describes the furor caused by Murchison's vivisection activities.

Chapter 14.

MAN WITH CRUTCHES.

"When Murchison asked what proof the delegation had that he was torturing animals, they showed him the order he had at the pound, signed wtih his own hand," said Jameson. "He was sure in wrong around here all last year over it. Most of the profs was away when it all happened, but it seemed like an awful lot of them felt like they had to light in to him when they come back. He took it not too bad from the Medical profs, but when it come to some of the Arts and Law faculties comin' over here to give him hell about the credit of the University and professional etiquette and all that, he simply told 'em off to a fare-you-well. You can't blame him. It's not so much their business."

"He and Deane had a blow up, didn't they?"

Jameson pursed his lips and let out a long whistle. "And did they! Well, you just better guess they did. I never heard so much language from people that's supposed to know better in my life. I saw Deane come in that day with fair murder in that little fat face of his, and I saw him stamp up to Murchison's lab and pound on the door, and I made it my business to be around. They was inside with the door shut, but the row was as plain as you like. Deane sure got what he come after and then some. I kind of felt like standin' up for Murchison there. Deane's such a snoopy old busybody. And when he come out of there, after Murchison had told him he was a stupid old fossil that only held his job because the college didn't have pensions for worn-out wrecks, his hands was just shakin' like they do when he gets excited. He went out of here like a whipped kid fair daft with rage."

"Um," said ichael. He looked up at the glass jars filled with strange and awful specimens in the cabinet. "What do you suppose Murchison was doing with his cats and dogs?" he asked lightly.

"God knows. But it was somethin' queer." Jameson turned on Michael suddenly. "What happened to their bodies after he was through with them?" he demanded.

"Bodies? Well — what should happen to them?"

"That's it. I ought to know. I have to take care of that. But I tell you—even after I heard the groanin' and yellin' and knew damn well he was doing infernal things to the poor beasts, never a hint of a hide or hair was there left around in the morning."

"Um," said Michael again. "Fifth dimensional stuff. Maybe he's a wizard, Bill. Maybe he can wave his wand and change you into a—a piece of cheese."

"Maybe he can that. But there never was no pieces of cheese layin' around in the mornin' either," Jameson said good-naturedly.

"Mystery number one," Michael said portentously. "What about a furnace?"

"No bones."

"Dear, dear. No bones?"

"Not a bone."

"Well, well. Indeed. Strange."

"Mystery number one, you calls it," Jameson said, his tone lowered. "There's another mystery I ain't got straight yet."

"Bill, you ought to quit running this University and get a job with the police force."

"Too fat, said Jameson contentedly.

"What's your mystery?"

"Shiverin' With Fright."

"It's a man. He comes here every Thursday afternoon. He asks for Murchison, and he's shiverin' with fright every time. Then when I tell him Murchison's still away he straightens up and goes off with a bit of color in his cheeks again. He won't tell who he is or what he wants, and I say it's something fishy. Blackmail, I think, or something like that he's ashamed of. Won't say nothing but that he wants Murchison."

"Every Thursday?"

"Yep."

"What kind of a man?"

"That's it," said Jamesson. "He thinks I don't know anything about him, but you just have to take one look at him, and you can guess. Sandy-haired chap. He has to have a crutch, and he's got a service pin in his coat, and he comes only on Thursday. Any fool would know he's from the Veterans' Hospital. Thursday is their day out."

"And he won't say what he wants?"

"No. Only Murchison."

"Well. Indeed," said Michael.

Bill ground the stub of his cigarette against the side of his dust bin and threw it in. Michael copied him.

"Afraid I've been talkin' an awful lot," he apologized. "I work here alone a lot, with this fussy stuff I don't dare let the new men touch, and I get a talkin' streak whenever anybody'll listen to me."

"Crutches?" repeated the young interne in the hallway. "Crutches? There's a whole room full of leg cases."

"At the present moment?" Michael inquired.

The interne stared.

"Are they all in one room at the present moment?"

"More or less. Yes, I suppose you might say they are."

"May I accompany you to the door of that room and ask you to deliver a message for me?"

The interne eyed him thoughtfully. "It sounds damn funny to me," he commented. "You want a man and all you know about him is that he has sandy hair and wears crutches."

"It is damn funny," Michael agreed. "I wish I had time to explain all the details to you. You'd be interested."

"Well, maybe. I haven't got time either. We're under-staffed. Come on, then." Michael followed him across a polished floor, down a long hallway toward a glass door through which eddied sounds of conversation and wisps of smoke. The interne pushed the door open. Forty pairs of eyes looked up at them.

"Say you're looking for a man who is expecting a message from Dr. Murchison," Michael said quietly.

"Any of you fellows waiting for a message from a Dr. Murchison?" the interne said loudly.

Silence. No one stirred.

The interne frowned. "No go," he said to Michael.

But Michael's keen eyes were roving over the group. One face had paled dreadfully at the interne's first speech. Michael looked straight at the man. "I think I see him," he said pleasantly, raising his voice the merest trifle.

At his words the man stirred in his chair and reached for the crutch at his side. He stood up, a shell of former bravery and courage, a husk of lost strength. His voice was small, tense.

"I'm Not Coming."

"I'm not — I'm not coming," he said.

Michael waited. He looked at the man. The man stared back at him.

"I'm not coming," he said a little louder. "I don't have to come."

A big, black-haired chap beside him looked up at Michael. "Is that the doctor fellow, Smith?" he asked.

The smaller man's mouth twisted. "No, that ain't him," he said. "I never seen this one before."

"Never mind all that talk," the interne said sharply. "Are you the man who is expecting a message from Dr. Murchison?"

"I'm the man," Smith said heavily. "But I'm not coming."

"That's all right with me," Michael said lightly. "I don't want you to come. I want to have a talk with you."

The little man stared at him. The big man spoke truculently. "You better go off and leave him alone," he said. "He's been half off his nut worryin' about your doctor friend. You can't make him go. He don't have to go. We'll get the law on you if you worry him about it. It ain't right."

Michael left the door and went down beside the two men. Smith was breathing hard. The room was very still.

"I don't want you," Michael repeated.

"It ain't no good askin' for the money either," the big man said again. "It's gone. But you can't do nothing about it. Just try it and see what happens. We'll have the law on you."

"For the love of Pete," Michael said gently. "Shut up, will you? Let me get a word in edgewise. Is there any place where we can have a quiet talk?"

The big man eyed him suspiciously still. "I haven't got a gun," Michael assured him. "And I'm not a kidnapper. Your friend will be quite safe with me."

"He don't go nowheres to talk without me," the big man growled.

Michael turned to the interne. "D'you mind if we go to the waiting room to talk?"

"That's all right. Look here, Smith, stop that chittering, will you? You'll have a temperature again, you ass."

Smith passed a shaking hand over a trembling mouth, and endeavored to control the nervous spasms overcoming him. The big man took him by the arm after he had raised himself laboriously from his chair. "Come along, old bird," he said, "we might as well git it over with."

In the waiting room, Michael looked at Smith sharply. "Why are you afraid of Murchison?" he said at once.

Smith looked at him and swallowed. His hand went to the breast of his coat and felt for something there. His lips moved but made no sound.

"Why aren't you coming?" Michael said again.

The big man broke in. "See here," he said, "it seems to me you don't know much about this business. Did that Murchison send you here?"

"Not exactly."

"Do you know what he wanted of Smith, here, or not?"

"I have merely a glimmering of an idea."

"Then, what the hell are you here for?"

"Information," Michael said promptly and truthfully.

"Who are you anyway? A friend of that . . . of Murchison's?"

"I have never met the gentleman. I am a lawyer."

Smith gasped. "A lawyer!" he said weakly. "Then maybe . . . maybe . . "

"Exactly," Michael agreed with him. "Now will you tell?"

Picked up by the police earlier in the week, the retail beer license under which Jack Alles, 146 South Tenth street, was operating, has been restored to him. BLAST KILLS ONE AND INJURES 15 AT KANSAS CITY

Explosion Occurs As Employe Lights Match In Building Housing A Church

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18—(AP)—A match lit by an employe searching for coins in the basement of the Grand Avenue Temple building set off an explosion that injured 15 persons, one fatally.

Mrs. Lee R. Hardwick, 23, daughter-in-law of Fire Chief T. J. Hardwick, died last night, several hours after the blast. She was in front of the main entrance to the building when the explosion occurred.

She was hurled high in the air and fell into the basement through a large hole torn in the sidewalk.

"It seemed to me I went up to the second floor," she said.

Leonard Steele, 19-year-old elevator operator, told officers he and another employe were changing clothes in the basement after the day's work.

Coins Fell from Pocket.

"Some coins fell from my pocket and rolled under a table," he related. "I couldn't find them. I scratched a match. The explosion was terrible."

Steele suffered severe lacerations, burns and a head injury. Most of the others hurt were cut by glass.

M. C. Mustaine, assistant fire chief, said the explosion "undoubtedly" was caused by gas, the source of which he could not determine.

The blast caused heavy damage to the 12-story office building which houses the Grand Avenue Temple, a Methodist church. Pillars in the church auditorium were cracked. Plate glass windows in nearby stores were shattered.

New "Tough" Porcelain Filling For Teeth Is Developed At N. U.

Dr. Davis Tells Oklahomans Substance May Replace Gold And Silver

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 18—(AP)—A new type porcelain dental filling soon may replace the use of gold and silver, Dr. W. Clyde Davis of Lincoln, Neb., told the northern Oklahoma district dental society convention Friday.

"In the past," explained Dr. Davis, dean of the dental school of the University of Nebraska, "gold has been the only material suitable for permanent fillings. Porcelain was the most attractive because it matched to a reasonable extent the natural color of the teeth, but it discolored quickly and wore out within a few years.

"Under the new technique which we have developed through the cooperation of the University of Nebraska chemistry and physics departments and the United States bureau of standards, we now can make porcelain fillings which will not discolor, which hold their position, and which are so tough they'll actually turn the teeth on a dentist's steel burr."

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By JOHN HIX

Rivaling sheerest silk made today, a beautiful, semi-transparent material was all the rage in Rome 2,000 years ago. So delicate was its texture that the fiber was dyed with a purple dye obtained from shellfish, before being woven. Women of Rome greatly admired the "Coa Vestis" dresses, but they provided so scanty a covering that eventually their use was banned.

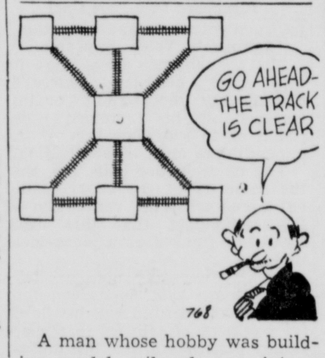

SHEER SILK FICTITIOUS JOB

Because British parliament members can resign their seats only to accept another office under the Crown, they apply for a job that doesn't exist. Granted this office, they are automatically out of parliament.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By Prof. J. D. Flint

A man whose hobby was building model railroads ran into a funny thing one day while he was working with his miniature railroad system.

The model trainman had an elaborate little unit of his system which consisted of a plain, cross-shaped piece of track which had a terminal unit at each of the four points and a signed tower at the intersection. In addition to this the model trainman had two secondary terminal units opposite each other and each located midway between two terminal units at the ends of the cross-shaped piece of track. From these secondary terminal units ran little spur tracks toward each other, stopping at the intersection where the signal tower was located.

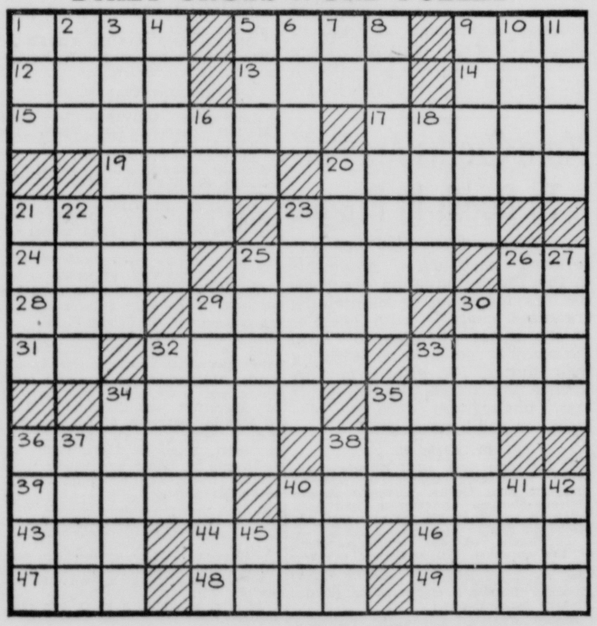

All of the terminal units (six of them) and the signal tower had numbers on them to fit into the pattern of the whole system and the model trainman noticed that where any three numbers were in line with each other they added up to twelve. All of the numbers were single digits. There were five such combinations. Can you place the numbers?

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler

The final result is eleven and a headache.

DEFENSE WITNESSES CLAIM MALM CARRIED REVOLVER WHEN SHOT

LEXINGTON, Neb., Nov. 18—(AP) — The defense contention that T. H. Malm, for whose death H. A. Swanson is on trial here facing first degree murder charges, carried a revolver at the time he was shot stood challenged by state's witnesses Saturday.

Francis F. Adams, hired man on Malm's farm, and Clarence Sherman, a tenant, both testified that they had never seen Malm carry a gun. Defense attorneys indicated they would plead self-defense for Swanson, on the grounds he believed Malm was armed when Swanson shot him last Oct. 26.

Mild Recoveries Are Sprinkled Over Stock Market

Exchange Trading Pace Is Sluggish

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—Mild recoveries were sprinkled over the stock market today in one of the most sluggish sessions since the start of the European war.

Dealings lagged from the opening on and, while there was a generous assortment of fractional gains in evidence at the close of the two-hour proceedings, numerous issues were unchanged to off small amounts Transfers were around 300,000 shares.

Attendance in boardrooms was said to have been lightest in several weeks. The few traders who appeared, while mostly bullish, showed little inclination to put sizabe bets on their opinions.

The foreign picture provided scant inspiration for speculative forces and the meager bidding that came into the list was credited mainly to the continuance of domestic business optimism. At that, there were some who still held the idea the lengthy upswing was due for a letdown in the early part of next year.

U. S. government and foreign loans exhibited quiet strength in the bond department. Corporation issues were exceptionally narrow.

Stocks achieving a degree of popularity included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, North American Aviation, Southern Pacific, Brunswick-Balke-Collender, Kennecott, Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penny, Container Corp., Allied Chemical, General Electric and Standard Oil of N. J.

Inclined to waver were Chespapeake & Ohio, Westinghouse, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone and Western Union.

Steels presented a firm front most of the time as forecasts were made that next week's mill operations would be at or near the recent peak. Consumption of iron and steel scrap in October was estimated to have climbed to a total of nearly 4,000,000 gross tons compared with 2,293,000 tons in the same 1938 month. It was believed to be a new monthly record.

Aircrafts about held their own but were not particularly responsive to reports of new foreign orders for war planes. North American Aviation announced the British had contracted for 400 training planes involving some $17,000,000.

Talk of the Chrysler labor stalemate being broken over the week-end aided the automotive group. Rails contested selling as October revenues for the roads were said to have been the best for that month in many years.

In the curb Electric Bond & Share, Lockheed, N. J., Zinc and Borne Scrymser pointed upward.

New York Sugar

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—SUGAR—Domestic sugar futures eased on scattered liquidation and hedge selling today after early steadiness and closed 2 to 3 points lower.

Trade and outside buying interest was restricted by dullness in raws and by a 10-point reduction in refined sugar in southern territory to a basis of 4.80 cents a pound.

World contracts declined as much as 2½ points as commission house selling and week-end speculative liquidation failed to attract any buying interest.

Cuban raw offerings were held at about 1.80 cents c. and f. and duty frees were available at 3.10 cents. Refined in the eastern Atlantic states was unchanged at 4.90 cents.

Futures No. 3 closed 2 to 3 lower. Sales 5,800 tons. March, 1.83 bid; May, 1.87 bid; July, 1.90 bid.

No 4 closed unchanged to 2½ lower; March 1.45 bid.

Wheat Market Given A Boost

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 18—(AP)—Buying of December wheat contracts which advanced more than a cent a bushel today, gave the entire wheat market a lift and other deliveries rose fractionally.

Some purchasing was credited to milling interests. The price upturn, which was the best of the week, also attracted short covering.

Soy beans futures rose almost 3 cents a bushel at one stage to above $1, highest level of the season.

Wheat closed ⅛@1 cent higher than yesterday, December 88⅛@¼, May 85¾@⅞; corn ¼c lower to ⅛c up, December 50¼@⅛, May 52½@⅜; oats ⅛@½c higher.

Wheat prices were lifted about a cent a bushel at one stage today in the most active buying spurt of the week.

Orders credited to milling interests, presumably associated with some flour sales to the baking trade, advanced December wheatto 88¼ cents and dealers who sold that contract and bought deferred months found comparatively few sellers.

Strength in some sections of the securities market also attracted attention.

Failure of material rains to arrive in the hard winter wheat belt, although scattered moisture was reported at some points where relief was received last week, caused buying. The forecast promised little precipitation although a continuation of unsettled weather was in prospect for some eastern districts of the belt. The soft winter wheat belt had rains in many sections but moisture is less urgently needed in this zone.

The premium of more than 2 cents a bushel at which December wheat was quoted over May contracts and the even more substantial premiums at which actual wheat was priced served to give the market a firm tone.

The premium of more than 2 cents a bushel at which December wheat was quoted over May contracts and even more substantial premiums at which actual wheat was priced served to give the market a firm tone.

Holland was in the market for more U. S. corn and while no sales figures could be obtained exporters said at least a cargo had been booked for movement from the gulf. Corn prices, however, scored only moderate advances.

Soy beans advanced more than a cent to new highs for the season, with May contracts selling above $1 a bushel once again. Industrial and export buying was a strengthening factor.

Oats and rye also were slightly higher but hard continued to decline in sympathy with the lowest hog prices in five years.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—U. S. government and foreign dollar obligations made the best showing in the bond market today.

Federal issues rounded out the week's rising trend with fresh gains running to around ½ point near the finish of the short session.

Advances in the government list were made on light transfers, indicating to dealers that supplies were small and buyers were willing to pay higher prices in order to find an outlet for investment money.

Bright spots in the foreign list were gains of 3 points or more in Montevideo 7s and 6s. Vienna City 6s, however, dropped 7½ on a single sale.

Corporate issues seemed in no great hurry to get very far either way. A good handful of recently favored rails were trimmed a bit, including Stt. Paul 5s, Great Northern 4s of '46 "G," New York Central 5s and Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s.

Marked up a trifle were Portland General Electric 4½s, Studebaker 6s and Commonwealth Edison 3½s.

Central New England 4s ran up 3½ in brisk trade.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—COTTON—Futures advanced 4 to 9 points today in moderately active trading.

Continued strength in foreign markets encouraged active straddle purchases by Bombay and Liverpool accounts and this was the main factor in the rise.

Despite fairly active liquidation and transferring from December, New Orleans and hedge selling, the market acted well throughout the trade price fixing a steadying influence.

Futures closed 4 to 9 higher. December 9.67, up 5; January, 5.98, up 5; March 8.49, up 7; May, 8.25-26, up 5; July, 8.94-8.96, up 4. October (new), 8.50, up 0.

Middling spot, 9.88 nom., up 5.

Johnson Wins Over Tilley On Salary Issue

partment of roads and irrigation."

Johnson's Voice Supreme.

"In the absence of a showing that (the attorney general's) charges are unreasonable or unconscionable, his (Johnson's) decision as to the allocation of the expenditures must be controlling."

The chief justice said, too, that the majority of the court "could not agree with the contention of the respondent that this work should be figured on a piece-meal basis."

In his dissenting opinion, Justice Johnsen said he agreed that the earmarked fund was available for payment of salaries in the attorney general's office, but added:

"I am unable to accept the view that the appropriation is intended as a general fund that may be drawn upon whimsically, merely because some services have been rendered to the (highway) department.

"It seems to me rather," he continued, "that the fund was intended to be used only in direct payment of time actually spent or cost actually incurred."

"Poor Business"—Johnsen.

Justice Johnsen explained he thought the money should be paid only for time actually spent by the attorneys in doing the highway department's work.

"Notwithstanding that it is openly admitted that such is the situation here and that the individual in whose favor a withdrawal is being made has not personally devoted time to the work of the department equivalent to the amount of the withdrawal, the majority opinion is endorsing this method of disbursing public funds.

"Such an indirect application might easily become a screen. It certainly is not sound business practice, and—unless it is a fallacy to assume that the state's affairs ought to be conducted on a business basis—there is no reason to approve it."

Indirectly involved in the decision were the salary claims of other assistant attorneys general who have done work for the agriculture department and other governmental agencies.

After receiving the court's opinion the attorney general's office gave out a statement which said, in part:

"The decision sustains entirely Attorney General Walter R. Johnson's interpretation of the appropriation act and will make it possible to save tax funds by paying part of the necessary expenses of various departments out of fees derived from other sources."

Doug Davies Dies In Frosh Grid Game

Soon after the tragedy, the dressing room was filled with the tear-stained faces of Davies' teammates. Whispered voices cracked the silence as the youths peeled off their playing equipment. Slowly, each one dressed and walked to the nearest exit.

Geraldine "Jerry" Wallace, University of Nebraska co-ed and cousin of Davies, was nearly hysterical when she realized what had happened. She had come to the stadium to watch Doug perform and when he was carried off the field, she was determined to ride with him to the hospital in the ambulance.

Her father, Fred Wallace, state ACP head, along with Mrs. Wallace also attended the game. Wallace left immediately for Hastings to be with the boy's parents.

Doug, a strapping 180-pound youth, who stood six feet, two inches, had enrolled in the college of business administration and was a pledge of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

He came to Hastings and entered high school there as a freshman when his father took a position as farm superintendent at the Hastings State Hospital.

Won 9 Athletic Letters.

Regarded by his teammates as a "fiery" player, Davies earned nine athletic letter awards. Three each in football, basketball and track. As a junior he was mentioned prominently on all-state football and basketball teams. He played center on the basketball team which boasted as its members such players as Jim Taylor, Jerry Nemitz and Harry Hopp. The latter is now one of the top performers for Major Jones' Cornhuskers. An average student, Davies pursued a straight academic course.

Eldon Miller, Davies' high school coach at Hastings, couldn't speak at first when notified of the tragedy at Beatrice, where his team was playing. Later, Miller commented, "I can't believe it. Doug was one of the finest boys and best athletes I ever coached, and he always was a leader at Hastings high. I'm deeply grieved. I believe he would have realized his life-long ambition to play football for the University of Nebraska had the accident not occurred."

T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, called the parents by telephone late Friday night.

Members of Davies' fraternity were stunned beyond words. Several brothers in his pledge class had witnessed the accident but did not learn until later that the injury was fatal. Several others said that Doug had been ill Thursday and advised not to play.

The evening meal was served at the house, but no one responded to the dinner call.

Funeral service for Douglas Davies will be held at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the St. Mark's Episcopal church in Hastings, with Rev. Dean Lee officiating. Burial will be held in the Kearney cemetery.

More Czechs Are Put To Death In Prague

believed particularly applicable in the Prague situation are "acts for bringing about or maintaining organized contact" with enemies of the state; attempts to "keep the army or police from fulfilling their duties," or efforts to "influence the masses through writings, phonograph records, pictures, or radio messages."

Dr. Hacha Ill.

At the same time, Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter reported that Dr. Emil Hacha, president of the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate, had been taken ill and that his recovery was expected to require considerable time.

(Dr. Hacha, 66, was elected president of the shrunken Czecho-Slovak republic Nov. 30, 1938 to succeed Dr. Eduard Benes, who resigned after the Sept. 29, 1938, Munich conference on partition of his country by Germany.)

Berlin officials, meanwhile, remained tight-lipped concerning the executions, which were disclosed last night by DNB, official German news agency.

Information obtained from an American official in Prague shortly before telephone communication with the former Czecho-Slovak capital was cut off, indicated that the city was quiet.

Reports in informed Prague circles were to the effect that the executions had followed a raid on an illegal printing establishment in the home of a former Czech official.

DNB said the executions ,which were accompanied by numerous arrests, were ordered because of assaults on Germans on Oct. 28 and Nov. 15 by students described as "followers" of Dr. Benes.

Flags At Half Staff.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Flags were at half staff today at the Czecho-Slovak legation in mourning for the Czechs executed at Prague for anti-German activity.

Col. Vladimir Hurban, the minister, said in a statement:

"The arbitrary execution of nine students by the German authorities in Prague is further proof to the civilized world that lebensraum (living space) for nazi Germany means todesraum (space for death) for the rest of the world."

655,000 Jews To Be Sent To German Poland

Conditions Of Hardship Confront Refugees In New 'State'

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 18 — (INS)—To be ringed around with a "frontier" of barbed wire, 655,000 Jews will be evacuated to German Poland by next April, according to a Berlin story in the newspaper Politiken today.

A continuous stream of Jews is arriving in the new Jewish "state" around Lublin, the paper said, and by next spring 65,000 will have been sent from Vienna, 30,000 from Posen and West Prussia (formerly the corridor), 170,000 from Lodz, 150,000 from the Bohemia-Moravian protectorate, and 240,000 from Germany proper.

Conditions of hardship confront the Jews immediately upon arrival, said the Politiken. The paper asserted:

Lublin itself is so overcrowded that the last train was forced to move on, the station master refusing to allow the Jews to get off.

Can Take Only $120.

Jews were allowed to take only 300 marks ($120) with them, plus luggage they could carry.

Upon arrival, all men up to the age of 70 are put to work building roads and drainage systems and reconstructing houses destroyed in the war.

Twelve hours of work a day are required, with only a half an hour's pause,

Jews, the Politiken went on, are placed in camps much like concentration camps, and many suicides were reported.

The intention, according to the paper, is to put barbed wire entanglements around the whole state when the migration has been completed, with Polish police and troops watching over it.

POLICE TO ENFORCE BRAKE-LIGHT LAW

Unless motorcar owners have their No. 2 brake and light stickers for the last half of 1939 by December 1 Cobe S. Venner, director of public safety said Saturday, they "must tell it to the judge." The deadline was November 1.

"We're not going to fool around with them any longer," Venner stated. They have had plenty of time to get their new stickers, so if anything happens after December 1, it's nobody's fault but their own. Positively, the police will be given orders to enforce the law beginning December 1."

USHER USES HIS HEAD IN MOVIE SHOW FIRE

FLORENCE, S. C., Nov. 18—(AP)—A pencil of flame leaped under the balcony. Seventeen-year-old Woodrow Cook, usher in the theater, noticed it.

He stopped the motion picture machine, walked on the stage, and said:

"Folks, you know there is a state law requiring fire drills to be held in theaters. We are going to have one now."

He asked the patrons to form a line and file out. A few minutes after they were on the street, parts of the room began collapsing.

The fire which broke out at a matinee yesterday razed the building. The damage was estimated at about $35,000.

Hitler Indicates Nazis Have Enough Food For A Year

BERLIN, Nov. 18 — (INS) — With the harvest safely in, Germany is certain to withstand the British blockade for at least another year, Chancellor Hitler indicated today.

Hitler issued a proclamation thanking the farmers for completing the harvest and the winter planting, adding:

"This is of decisive importance in the struggle forced upon us. With God's help, food supplies for Germany will be safeguarded during the coming year."

Kuhn's Wife To Testify At Trial

Judge To Take Action Against Lawyer For Bund Leader

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—A quiet hausfrau behind headlines—Mrs. Kritz Kuhn—will take the stand in her publicized husband's defense when the larceny trial of the leader of the German-American bund resumes Monday.

So far she has not been seen at any session of the trial, during which the prosecution has pictured her middle-aged husband as an amorous demagogue who stole bund money to pay the furniture bills of blonde Mrs. Florence Camp and a doctor bill of Mrs. Virginia Gogswell, the much-married "Georgia Peach."

The defense has acknawledged Kuhn sent telegrams to Mrs. Camp in which he addressed her as "My Everything" and signed himself with "love and kisses."

Lawyer and Judge Clash.

Defense Council Peter L. Sabbatino and Judge James G. Wallace clashed yesterday when the judge refused to permit Sabbatino to question as he wished—after putting them on the stand—Mayor LaGuardia, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, Commissioner of Investigation William B. Herlands and other officials.

LaGuardia was in the court room less than 2 minutes.

Stopped each time after Judge Wallace held that the defense contention that "unseen forces" had been attempting to discredit Kuhn was immaterial to the trial issue of whether the bund leader stole some $1,800 from the bund treasury, Sabbatino shouted:

"I charge that the court is intimidating defense counsel and depriving the defendant of his right to a fair, impartial trial."

Judge Wallace paled, banged his fist and shouted back:

"That remark is contemptuous and I intend to take appropriate action at the proper time."

Sabbatino immediately calmed and apologized.

R. I. Truck Line May Be Opposed

Nebraska Truckers Group Claims No Hearing Held By I.C.C.

Paul Halpine, secretary of the Nebraska Commercial Truckers association, said Saturday his organization "contemplates" asking the interstate commerce commission to reconsider its recent action permitting the Rock Island motor transit lines to operate a truck line parallel to the railroad between Morton, Kas., and Fairbury.

"On investigation I have found no member of the association who was notified of any hearing by the ICC," Halpine declared.

A meeting will be held within the next 10 days, he added, to determine definitely what action the association should take. The truck service would be via Beatrice, Pawnee City, and Dubois in Nebraska, interstate shipments being affected.

A similar application to intrastate shipments is pending before the railway commission. Hearings have been held at Lincoln, Fairbury, Pawnee City, and Beatrice, with the final one being scheduled for Nov. 28 in Lincoln.

German Planes Fire On Holland Attacking Craft

THE HAGUE, Nov. 18—(AP)—The government announced today that two German flying boats had appeared over Holland and one had fired at Netherlands planes which attacked it.

Apparently neither the German nor the Netherlands planes were damaged.

The German aircraft were sighted over the island of Vlialand off the northern coast. Both headed back toward Germany after the encounter.

The government said it had protested against the violation of Holland's neutrality and the shooting at Netherlands planes over their own territory.

Eight-Point Program For National Health Offered

.... BY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 — (AP) — The American Medical association's objectives and principles relative to a national health program were set forth today in a unique eight-point platform.

Trustees representing some 115,000 member physicians yesterday adopted the platform, the first of its kind in association history.

Dr. Nathan B. Van Etten of New York, president-elect, said the association desired to state its objectives in view of pending federal legislation.

Trustees expressed the hope the platform might aid authorities drafting federal legislation. The Wagner national health bill now is before a senate subcommittee.

The platform follows:

1. Establishment of an agency to co-ordinate and administer all medical and health functions of the federal government exclusive of those of the army and navy.

2. The allotment of such funds as the congress may make available to any state in actual need for the prevention of disease, the promotion of health and the care of the sick on proof of such need.

3. The principle that the care of the public health and the provision of medical service to the sick is primarily a local responsibility.

4. The development of a mechanism for meeting the needs of expansion of preventive medical services with local determination of needs and local control of administration.

5. The extension of medical care for the indigent and the medically indigent with local determination of needs and local control of administration.

6. In the extension of medical services to all the people, the utmost utilization of qualified medical and hospital facilities already established.

7. The continued development of the private practice of medicine, subject to such changes as may be necessary to maintain the quality of medical services and to increase their availability.

8. Expansion of public health and medical services consistent with the American system of democracy.

The trustees registered opposition to "compulsory sickness insurance, state medicine and similar technics" which they contended results in "a trend toward communism or totalitarianism and away from democracy."

Multiple Use of Rooms Is Big Factor In School Architecture, Broady Says

In the planning of the small 12-grade school buildings two new and important elements must be considered, multiple use and supervision, Dr. K. O. Broady of the teachers college at the University of Nebraska told the fall meeting of the Nebraska chapter of the American Institute of Architects in Omaha Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Broady pointed out as an example that a science room can be equipped so that general science, all biological and physical sciences, and subjects such as English, can be taught there. He explained that in a small school there are more rooms than teachers and in that way a teacher can be conducting a class in one room and through a glazed door, supervise another class in another room.

The use of the auditorium by adult groups in evenings, Dr. Broady stated, made it necessary to be able to use the auditorium without having to open, light, and heat the entire school building. Prof. L. B. Smith, chairman of the architecture department and president of the group, presided at the meeting. Prof. Ben F. Hemphill, of the university architecture department, showed movies of his trip to Europe.

3 NAZI PRISONERS ESCAPE IN SCOTLAND

LONDON, Nov. 18 — (INS) — Escape of three young nazi prisoners from a scottish interment camp was revealed in London today.

Authoriities said that large detachments of British troops and police, aided by planes of the royal air force, scoured the countryryside for them.

The trio were identified as Rudi Platter, 15, Gunther Berger, 17 and Walther Bartels, 17. They were understood to be captured members of a German submarine crew.

Senator Byrd Accused Of Wage-Hour Violation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — (AP)—Wage-hour officials said today that a complaint against Senator Byrd (D-Va) had been referred to the regional office at Richmond for investigation.

They said the complaint was filed by Thomas Reed, chairman of the "committee on fair play for workers" at Winchester. It alleged, they added, that the senator had refused to comply with the wage-hour law in his apple picking and processing business near there.

At Winchester, Senator Byrd said last night that "the charges filed against me by the self-appointed non-resident committee co-operating with the CIO respecting my orchard and farming operations are utterly false and are obviously inspired for political purposes."

The team that runs true to form is one of today's oddities, something like the man that bites the dog—and we don't mean the hot dog.

CONN RETAINS FISTIC HONORS

OVER THE STATE by ALEX STODDARD

COACH CLAIR SLOAN, Principal "Tut" Biehn, and the Fairbury townspeople are not dismayed despite the drab showing of the Jeffs on the gridiron this fall...Fairbury has won only from Hebron, losing to Jackson, Crete, Beatrice, York, Hastings, Falls City, Grand Island and Belleville, Kas....At the start of the season it was apparent that Fairbury's team would be far below that of past years, and the Jeff bosses decided to build for the future by playing freshmen and sophomores as much as possible...While the team may not "arrive" by next autumn, the 1941 term should find Fairbury back near the top of the pack.

ALTHOUGH the Fairbury team, as a whole, doesn't measure up to previous seasons, there's a guard named Don Vestal who plays a whale of a defensive game ...He weighs only 137 pounds—that's actual weight—but he made nearly 75 per cent of the tackles against Jackson, some of them extremely difficult and spectacular.

GRAND ISLAND high may have difficulty making up its 1940 schedule...Two of the eight teams on this year's slate are said to have notified Third City officials that the 1939 meeting on the gridiron terminated associations ... They are Superior and Fairbury, leaving only Hastings, Columbus, Kearney, Creighton Prep, Lincoln and York willing to play again next fall.

A CASE of mistaken identity or something: When Fairbury played Grand Island on the latter's field on Armistice Day, the Fairbury coaching staff headed by Clair Sloan had to pay its way into the ball game...Through a slip-up the staff forgot to take along the game passes sent by Third City officials and the gatekeeper insisted they pay...When Coach Roy Mandery of Grand Island heard about it, however, he rectified things by digging into the cash box and refunding the money.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—The N. Y. Fight Managers' association is trying member Hymie Caplin for stealing Lew Jenkins, Texas lightweight, from Frank Bachman . . . The Green Bay Packers didn't practice for Brooklyn today because Coach Curly Lambeau had to go out to the Polo Grounds to see his son, Don, play for Fordham vs. St. Mary's . . . You go see this week's newsreels then write us a 50-word piece on how Missouri's Paul Christman can be left off any guy's All-America . . . By the by, a big mid-western paper is getting ready to debunk what it terms Christman's "purely fictional Dizzy Dean antics."

TODAY'S guest star . . . George Short, Chattanooga (Tenn.) News: "When the bowl is called out yonder who'll be there?"

ATTENTION scouts: Penn high school at Greenville, Pa., has a six-foot-six pass-catching defensive wizard named Ed Kochis (who also kicks off and carries the ball from the fullback spot) ready for delivery soon . . . The Willard-Dempsey fight films will be ready for distribution Jan. 15 under the caption, "The Birth of a Champion" . . . The best all around back in pro football right now is Ace Parker of Brooklyn and it ought to make Nile Kinnick feel good to know the pro coaches regard him the nearest thing to Parker the collitches will turn out this year . . . Georgia will give Coach Wallace Butts and all his assistants new three-year contracts.

LAST week we chronicled that Dale Isaacs of Washburn went hog wild and completed eight straight passes against Drake . . . Whereupon, Bobbie Stephens, captain-elect of the Michigan Tech squad, went out and gave Brother Isaacs and friends something to shoot at by completing 11 in a row.

GLAD to see such loyal alumni as James J. Braddock, Jack Dempsey and Ray Impellitiere at the St. Mary's football rally last night . . . Mike Jacobs, James J. Johnston and John Roxborough, one of Joe Louis' managers, were in a 45-minute huddle yesterday . . . It ain't true, is it, that a couple of California slickers peddled off a phoney citrus grove to Jim Londos, one of our 24—or is it 25—burping champions?...The Frostburg (M. D.) State Teachers' college is hurling a defy at any team in the east for a soccer tilt.

GOOD LUCK, boys...Today we received one of those good luck chain letters . . . It said: "Break this chain and you'll have bad luck." . . . Which may explain why the letter bore the names of such football celebs as Bert Ingwerson of Northwestern; N. C. Crisp of Alabama; Frank Dobson of Maryland; C. A. Bernier of Hampden-Sidney; D. C. (Pea Head) Walker of Wake Forest; Charley Bowser of Pitt and Tom Stidham of Oklahoma.

PIRATE PREXY STILL OPPOSED TO LIGHTS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18—(AP)—President Bill Benswanger of the Pirates, back from a vacation in New York, said he is still opposed to night baseball in Pittsburgh. He commented, however, that future conditions might cause him to look at the proposition in a different way. Some local fans have been agitating for baseball under the electrics.

HAPPY DAY

MONTICELLO, Ark., Nov. 18—(AP)—Students at Monticello A. & M. college punched themselves today to be sure it was true.

The Aggies football team, which plays 80 per cent of its games on the road because travel is educational and the boys don't worry about winning, surprised itself and 2,000 fans by defeating Northwest Mississippi Junior college, 26-6, here yesterday.

It was Monticello's first victory since October, 1937.

TEPLY SQUAD IN CLOSE WIN

Havelock Spurts To Gain 13 to 6 Triumph Over Columbus Club.

Coach Lawrence Teply's Havelock high football team came to life in the third period of the game against Columbus Friday afternoon at Ballard field and won a closely contested fray, 13 to 6.

Draf First Half.

The whole first half was played with almost no gains at all as both lines piled up play after play. Witham rammed the center of the Columbus line for 19 yards on Havelock's first play, but after that the Discoverers tightened up. Feerhusen intercepted a Columbus pass and from Havelock's 11 to the invaders' 25, but there was not enough time to score before the half ended.

In the third canto Bullock set up the pins for the Shoptowners to go across. He ran a punt back 20 yards to the Columbus 20-yard stripe and Sandy Nelson scored on the next play by driving over his own right tackle, cutting to the sidelines and going across untouched. Woodrum failed on the plunge for the point.

Witham Breaks Loose.

Havelock's second touchdown came on the first play of the final quarter. Starting from the Havelock 48, Bill Witham smacked into the line apparently was stopped, but broke away from two more tacklers and ran 52 yards to the double chalk line. Aylward placekicked the extra point.

Columbus, however, wasn't through. Recovering a fumble on the 50 the Discoverers tallied in just two plays. Fred Brock tossed a short pass to Jess Miller who took it on Havelock's 39 and ran the rest of the way to a touchdown.

Outstanding for Teply's crew, which seems to be on the comeback trail, were Story, Aylward, Bullock, Feerhusen, Nelson and Witham. Ken Johnson, Fred Brock, Jess Miller and Verne Pope looked best for Marvin Paul's aggregation.

Wymore Downs College View.

WYMORE, Neb., Nov. 18—Led by Harold Prigga and Don Fisher, Wymore high gave College View its fifth setback of the season here Friday night by a 12 to 6 count. The Zephyrs scored early in the first quarter but had to come back in the fourth to break a 6 to 6 tie.

Smith recovered Lyons' fumble on the Viewmen 19 with only three minutes gone and Prigga and Freshman Hotz alternated carrying the ball to the one from where Prigga plunged over for the first score.

College View came back in the second stanza and marched 48 yards for its touchdown. Dwaine Sevier and Howard Gotfredson battered the Wymore line to the 16, whence Sevier threw a pass to Dale Darnell, who leaped high in the air in the end zone.

The third canto was played more defensively, but in the fourth Wymore began to march again. Starting from its 14, Wymore scored in nine plays. Prigga ran his own left end for 39 yards, and then after two first downs, Fisher passed to Smith who was hauled down on College View's 3. Prigga plunged over for the winning touchdown on his second attempt.

EUFAULA, Okla., Nov. 18—(AP)—Point-a-minute football teams are pikers—here's a prep star who does better than that himself.

Junior Golding, Eufaula high halfback, scored all his team's 71 points as Eufaula overwhelmed Haileyville 71 to 0. He made 11 touchdowns and kicked five points.

Golding has scored 197 of his team's 237 points this fall.

Champ of Light-Heavy Class Wins Verdict Over Lesnevich; To Meet Pastor Next?

By JUDSON BAILEY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—A shanty Irish kid who always says mister and sir to sportswriters, an outsize middleweight who weighed 171¼ pounds in defending his light-heavyweight championship—that is Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh Adonis you'll soon see battling among the heavyweights and eventually against Champ Joe Louis.

Cleans Up Class.

By winning a 15-round decision over Gus Lesnevich in Madison Square Garden last night Conn just about mopped up all the suitable talent in his class and Manager Johnny Ray is remaining in town to talk business with Uncle Mike Jacobs.

Billy Conn.

Their talks may touch upon many things, but they're bound to come upon a possible heavyweight bout with Bicycling Bob Pastor sooner or later because Conn himself wants it. And it's a logical step toward the heavyweight heights that Conn and his manager have in mind.

The fact that Conn will be tackling concrete pillars with a tack hammer instead of a sledge is passed off with a quaint remark that "you can't have everything."

Unquestionably Conn has something—a handsome face, an Irish spirit and a great left hand that has made him a beloved relative of this town's sports public and the champion in his class.

He swarmed over Lesnevich for a $45,000 near capacity house last night. For three rounds he stalked his foe cautiously, taking meaningless punches that raised a rosy blush on his young, naked chest and had no other effect whatever.

Then he began taking the brakes off his darting left jab, the hook that time after time jarred the Cliffside, N. J., fighter to a standstill, and the right cross that never, never missed.

Couldn't Land Finisher.

In the eleventh and the thirteenth rounds he had Lesnevich dull-eyed, hanging, leaning, clinching, and couldn't finish him. The outcome never was in doubt, but it was the ineffectuality of these punches that caused Conn afterward to smile wryly and say:

"It was a stinkin' fight. I couldn't get going.

"But I'll say one thing. He took my punches better than anybody I ever fought. He's just as good as (Melio) Bettina, or any of the rest of the guys I've met. He never hurt me. But I had the feeling I never hurt him either."

The fact that Conn weighed in two or three pounds under what was expected of him made everybody stop and wonder. Although he is definitely pointing for heavyweight competition, and has a big six-feet-plus frame, his handlers admitted they don't believe he'll ever weigh more than 180 to 185.

But Dempsey only weighed 184 and Tommy Loughran about that, they add in the same breath, and Billy Conn, the "Fighting Harp," can lick his weight in wildcats. Nobody has proved them wrong.

Jackson In Title Tie

Man of Week In Sports.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(INS)—Man of the week in sport: Billy Conn, the smiling Pittsburgh Irishman with the educated knuckles, draws the little brass ring this week for his brilliant defense of his world's light-heavyweight title against the rugged onslaught of Gus Lesnevich.

A Fighting Champion.

Billy has proved himself a fighting champion such as the old timers like to talk about.

He has never failed to give the crowd a run for its money. Twice this year he took the measure of Fred Apostoli, the ex-middleweight champion. And after lifting the crown he now wears from the corrugated brow of Melio Bettina, he obligingly gave that rough hombre a return bout and another beating. He knocked out Gus Dorazio, a heavyweight and last night he successfully took his toughest hurdle in Lesnevich.

And he did it in typical Conn fashion, starting slowly and then coming from behind to win as a true champion should.

Began As Lightweight.

Billy began his fighting career as a lightweight only four years ago. He never had an amateur fight and dropped his first professional bout for which he received a munificent $2.50, all of it in cash.

Fifty bucks looked like a gold mine to him four years ago, now the 22-year-old battler doesn't bat an eye at $50,000.

He outclasses his field and there's nobody in sight for him to fight except heavyweights.

As he says himself, "It's tough enough for a guy to fight his way into important money and tougher still to fight himself out of it. I sure hope they find somebody for me to belt over. I can use the dough."

GRID SEASON NEARS CLIMAX

String Major Contests On Docket This Week In College Realm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Yale-Princeton game is on at New Haven today and that's a sign (if any is needed) that the 1939 football season has just about reached its peak.

Plenty Big Games.

The importance of that Yale-Princeton tussle is merely traditional, but tradition still tosses a lot of weight around on football fields. These teams, who have been at it since 1873, always come together in mid-November, a week before their seasons end. Most other teams try to schedule their biggest games about the same time.

Skipping across the sectional boundaries like a halfback with a clear field ahead, today's program of biggest games is this: Missouri-Oklahoma, Northwestern - Notre Dame, Illinois - Ohio State, and Minnesota-Iowa in the midwest; Tennessee - Vanderbilt, Duke-North Carolina and Georgia Tech-Alabama in the south; Yale-Princeton, Cornell-Dartmouth, Colgate-Syracuse, Carnegie-Holy Cross, Nebraska-Pittsburgh, Michigan-Pennsylvania, St. Mary's - Fordham and Tulane-Columbia in the east; Texas Aggies-Rice and Texas Christian-Texas in the southwest; Santa Clara-U. C. L. A. and California-Oregon State on the Pacific Coast and Colorado-Brigham Young and Utah-Colorado State in the Rocky Mountain Big Seven.

Draws Huge Crowds.

A lot of these games, like that affair at New Haven, stand out only because they always have, but they'll also draw big crowds because they bring together "major" teams of different sections, or because the teams still have outside chances of winning sectional or conference titles.

There's a real decisive affair on at Columbia, Mo., however. Oklahoma's Sooners, unbeaten and tied only by Southern Methodist, come up against Missouri's fine eleven, which lost to Ohio State early this season but hasn't even been threatened in Big Six competition. The winner likely will walk off with the conference title. If Oklahoma comes through it's almost sure to get a New Year's Day bowl bid, but the Tigers and their widely advertised passing star, Paul Christman, aren't likely to be rolled aside without a struggle.

SEEK END BRAWLING AT FOOTBALL GAMES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18—(AP)—Student leaders at Tulane and Louisiana State universities hope to end free-for-alls at their football games by having the teams fight for a flag instead of student mobs battle for the goal-posts.

Jim Senter, president of Tulane's arts and science student council, said a flag bearing the state seal would be presented the winning team in a post-game ceremony.

He said the students would be asked to stay off the field during the ceremony, adding, "There won't be any fences or extra police guards."

Bob Chinn, L. S. U. student body president, likes the flag swapping idea and said that school would employ an "educational program" to prevent the fights which started back in 1935.

NUGGETS AGAIN IN BASKETBALL LOOP

DENVER, Nov. 18—(AP)—Denver's national champion basketball Nuggets will go out to the bankboard battles again this winter.

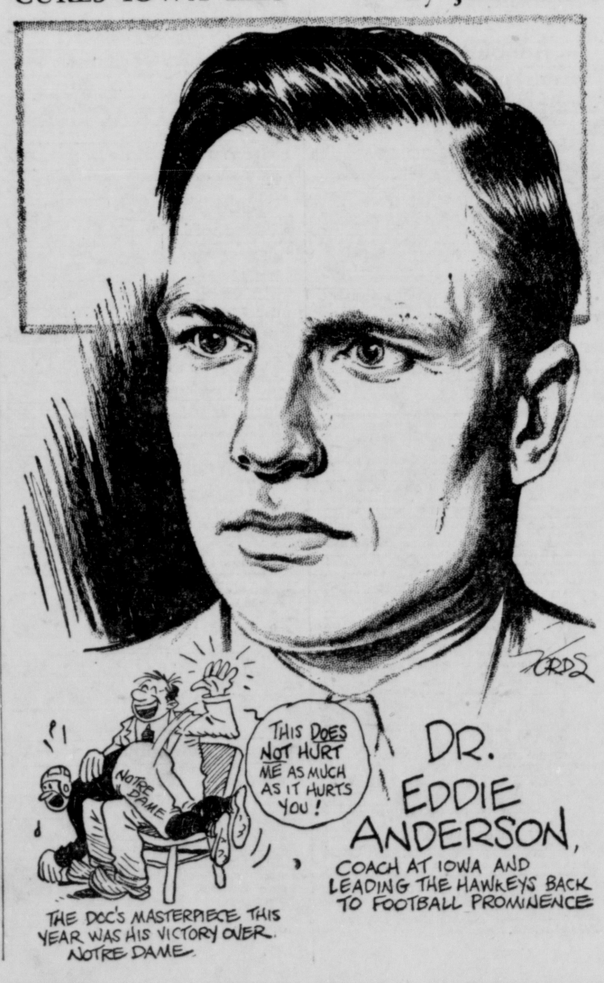

So far they have only seven players on hand for workouts starting Monday, but Jack McCracken, the team's coach and brilliant guard, said at least one more will be added for competition in a cage circuit stretching all the way from the Rockies to New York.

With the Nuggets ready to go, Denver's chances of landing its sixth straight National A. A. U. tournament, if it decides to bid again, were greatly enhanced.

Uncertainty over finances had threatened the team's future, but the Denver Convention and Tourists Bureau came to the rescue. It agreed to underwrite $1,500 for expenses.

WHITES SCORE 10-6 VICTORY

Fatal Injury To Davies Eclipses Spirited Frosh Battle.

By DON KELLOGG.

Fatal injuries to Charles Douglas Davies, 17-year-old University of Nebraska freshman totally obliterated a spirited frosh football game at Memorial stadium Friday afternoon. It was Davies' team that scored a 10 to 6 victory over another yearling eleven, but the feat went practically unnoticed.

Grace Scores Early.

Eugene Grace, towering backfield performer from Neligh, scored first for Bob Mills' White eleven after the latter team recovered a fumble on the Blue 14 soon after the kickoff. Thwarted by a stubborn Blue line, Grace stepped back to the 20 and booted the oval squarely between the uprights.

The Whites' only touchdown also came in the first period after Sid Bradley had kicked out of bounds for the Blues on the opposition's 14. On the first play, Dale Bradley, Lincoln, faked a kick, faded back and threw a perfect strike to Zikmund, Ord fullback, who caught the pigskin on the 40 and simply outran his would-be tacklers. Grace added the extra point.

Findley Intercepts Pass.

Findley of Milford set up Coach Bill Pfeiff's team's lone counter when he intercepted Bradley's pass on the White 27. Ernie Weekes of Omaha crashed through to the 19, Fred Metheny, Lincoln, made it a first down and then Weekes slipped off his own left tackle for 17 yards to score. Luther's kick for extra point was low.

The Blues kicked off to the Whites but were off side and the play was called back. Davies sustained the fatal injury on the next kickoff play. He was carried from the field and died within a few minutes in the Cornhusker dressing room.

Cathedral Trims Nehawka.

NEHAWKA, Neb., Nov. 18—Coach Kermit Yetter's Cathedral high six-man team from Lincoln continued along the unbeaten road Friday afternoon, knocking off Nehawka by 26 to 14.

The Bluebirds, with Fred Cassidy leading the way, scored twice in the first quarter and then coasted to victory. Nehawka came to life midway in the last quarter and tallied twice. Both times Nutzman carried the ball across for the losers.

Bethany Ahead of Milford.

MILFORD, Neb., Nov. 18—Harold Showalter broke away in the first period of Bethany's game at Milford Friday afternoon, and ran 55 yards to give the Maroons an early lead over Roland Tonkin's crew. Again in the fourth period, after Bethany had advanced 62 yards via the air lanes, Showalter drove over for a touchdown from the two-yard line, and Bethany pocketed a 14-0 victory

Phillips and Wenzel, ends, and Johnson, guard, played bangup games along with Showalter to stand out for Bethany. Banner and Trimble were Milford's mainstays.

Crimson Romps Over Fairbury Gridmen To Deadlock League Pennant Scramble.

By ALEX STODDARD.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Nov. 18—Jackson high, defending Mid-East conference football champion, retained a share of the loop laurels this autumn by beating Fairbury, 25-2, here Friday afternoon. Jackson led by 6-2 at the half and turned on the steam in the third quarter to turn in a comparatively easy victory.

Fairbury Clicks.

The game started the other way, however. Garcia returned Winter's opening kickoff 22 yards, then Ellsworth and Reid worked the "sleeper" pass play for 37 yards and Johnson skirted Jackson's left end for 15 yards to carry to the Crimson 21-yard line. Three plunges took the ball to the 10-yard stripe, but "Red" Neihart intercepted a third-down pass and took the ball 41 yards to the Crimson 44. It was Fairbury's only touchdown threat.

A penalty for offside kept Jackson's drive alive following Neihart's interception and the Jackson red-head scored on a 33-yard sprint through the middle behind efficient blocking.

Eyer Downed For Safety.

Only points for the Jeffs came early in the second period when Ellsworth's quick kick carried 59 yards to the Jackson seven. Eyer fumbled, recovered on the two, and was chased into the end zone by Vestal and Neilson for a safety.

In the third period the Crimson marched 62 yards to a score following Eilsworth's 22-yard kickoff. Fancy running by Neihart and Bud Ever, along with a couple plunges by Keith Powell which picked up heavy yardage, took the ball to the Fairbury 10, whence Powell, Neihart and Eyer teamed up in a double reverse to send the latter across untouched for the score.

Fredricks fumbled the next kickoff and Powell recovered on the Jeff 25. Three plays carried to the nine, and Neihart sliced off the Fairbury left side to score. Powell kicked the point.

Wolfe Scores.

Twice in the fourth quarter Jackson threatened but couldn't get the necessary yardage when Fairbury dug in. Late in the period, with only seconds remaining, a 49-yard march was culminated in Wolfe's touchdown dash. Powell's pass to Neihart for 40 yards set up the pins for the score.

Two Jackson touchdowns were called back for penalties. In the second period Powell's pass to Neihart went for 41 yards and a score, but a penalty for offensive interference on the Jeff 30 nullified the play. In the last period Powell passed to Neihart, who was all alone in the end zone, but the Jackson backs were in motion and the play recalled. In the second period Wolfe's fumble which Johnson recovered just two yards from pay territory squelched another threat.

For Fairbury, it was all Bus Ellsworth and Don Vestal. For Jackson, Neihart, Powell and Eyer did some fancy ball-lugging and Wolfe contributed some spine-jarring blocks, while Rasmussen, Cutshall and Trumble were best in the line.

BEATRICE HI TOPS TIGERS

Orangemen Cash In On Two Scoring Chances To Gain 13-6 Edge.

(By A Staff Representative.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 18—Beatrice high cashed in on its only two scoring opportunities to beat a grimly determined Hastings football machine here Friday night, 13-6, to gain co-championship honors with Jackson in the Mid-East conference.

Tigers Muff Chances.

Hastings outdowned the Orangemen, 10-8, but couldn't score with a first down on the Beatrice five late in the third period and the half ran out with Hastings on the home team's three-yard stripe.

Salisbury intercepted Durham's pass on the Hastings 38-yard line early in the second period and on the next play Plebuck circled the Hastings right end, then cakewalked down the west side lines to score. Bloodgood was rushed in to kick the point and obliged very efficiently to give Beatrice a 7-0 half-time lead.

A couple long runs by Durham enabled Hastings to threaten mildly later in the period, but Salisbury intercepted a pass to kill the drive. Then, a little later, Norris passed to Hopp behind the Beatrice defense, but the latter was nailed on the three-yard line and the half ended before Hastings could try again.

Hopp Scores Touchdown.

A 15-yard penalty assessed for holding gave Hastings the ball on Beatrice' 29 in the third period and Wally Hopp skirted the Orange left end on the next play for the Tiger touchdown.

A fourth-period Hastings march carried from the Tiger 10 to the Beatrice five, but three plays lost three yards. Plath intercepted Durham's pass and raced 99 yards for an apparent Beatrice touchdown on the next play. A clipping penalty nullified the score, however, but a few minutes later Plath crossed on a five-yard end run to put the game on ice.

Miller, Stiner, Durham and Hopp were the best for Hastings, while Ossowski, Ward, Schlegel, Plebuck and Plath did yeoman work for Beatrice.

CIFERS SCORES 362 POINTS IN 2 YEARS

KINGSPORT, Tenn., Nov. 18—(AP)—Swivel-hipped Bobby Cifers, who has scored 362 points in two seasons of high school football, looked around today for new football worlds to conquer.

And the 19-year-old youth—the nation's leading prep scorer last year—has chance a-plenty to go just about where he wants to continue his footballing.

The 185-pound triple-threat halfback, closing out his high school grid career yesterday, "guesses" he will cast his lot with Major Bob Neyland at the University of Tennessee. But many college scouts have dangled juicy scholarship offers before him, and he may change his mind.

His brother, Ed, is a varsity end on Tennessee's unbeaten and untied machine.

Bobby scored 20 points last night—bringing his season total to 127—as he led his Kingsport eleven to a 40-0 victroy over Morristown, Tenn.
